'Free' Vote But No Accord

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for an early end to the Commons deadlock over the flag issue faded Friday after the five party leaders reported failure in their attempt to reach a compromise.

But Prime Minister Pearson announced in the Commons that the flag vote will be a "free" one — the government won't stand or fall on the result. And he stressed that the door will be left open for any further compromise.

His statement and those of other leaders made it clear that the discussions hit a snag on Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's refusal to agree to a time limit on debate.

MAKE DECISION

While Mr. Pearson's call for a free vote on the flag indicated a softening of the government's earlier hard line, a highly-placed informant said the prime minister is determined that Parliament make a decision on a flag design, either embodying three maple leaves or one.

This source said also the government is prepared to submit the question to a parliamentary committee so long as there is an assurance the committee will not delay a final decision more than a few weeks. Mr. Diefenbaker had suggested in the house that two months might be spent by a committee on the flag issue.

ACCEPTED LIMITS

"As leader of the government," Mr. Pearson told the Commons, "I felt that whatever procedure was to be followed there should be accepted time limits on discussions to ensure that a decision would be reached at a reasonably early date. The principle of such limitation did not find unanimous acceptance."

Leaders of the smaller opposition grounds said they also favored such a time limit.

Three Years in Foul, Dark Room

Police Free Boy 'Mole'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police rescued a naked, starving Negro boy Thursday night from a dark, foul-smelling room where he had been imprisoned for three years.

* * *

Screaming and shielding eyes sensitive to light, seven-year-old Darrell Wilson was taken to hospital in an ambulance. He was reported suffering from rickets, a childhood disease brought on by malnutrition.

Robert Weimer, county juvenile officer, went to the apartment house to answer a complaint by neighbors and found the boy locked in the room. The only furnishing was a bedspring and mattress.

There was no electric light fixture in the room. In the daytime, a dim light filtered through dingy windows.

An uncle, identified as Clyde Minnis, 34, was jailed on a charge of contributing to the dependency of a minor.

* * *

Darrell's mother, Iona Wilson, 29, and the man she lives with, Hayward Sanders, were not at home when police were at the apartment.

Later, Mrs. Wilson returned and told a reporter she had kept the boy locked up since 1961 because "it just wasn't safe for that little boy to run loose."

"If he was outside, he would pick up a knife and cut himself or something," she said. "If he was inside, he would pick up something and throw it at us."

* * *

The boy, she said, was fed regularly "the same as the rest of us." Food was passed to him through a hole knocked in the door panel.

Steinkopf

Lack of Support Causes Minister To Quit Cabinet

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba Provincial Secretary Maitland Steinkopf announced Friday night that he had tendered his resignation to Premier Duff Roblin.

Mr. Steinkopf made the announcement in a brief statement as a night session of the legislature opened. Immediately after making the statement he left the chamber and the building and would not comment to reporters.

In the statement, Mr. Steinkopf said a bill introduced during the special legislature session which would clarify his position and validate his election in 1962 had not received the support he had hoped for.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

The legislature earlier Friday voted 37-to-13 in defeating an amendment to the bill which called on the government to defer action until the courts decide on the matter.

Mr. Steinkopf said the vote of the 13 members in support of the amendment showed "they do not share my belief" that any prior defect on his part was only on a technicality.

The government introduced the bill because of a possible infraction of the Legislative Assembly Act in 1962 when Mr. Steinkopf acted as an unpaid agent of the government in arranging the purchase of property. The act forbids any person who executes a contract for the Crown involving the expenditure of public money to hold a seat.

IMPROPER MANNER

During four days of debate on the bill, both Liberal and New Democratic Party members suggested the government acted in an improper manner in presenting the legislation and the matter should be referred to the courts.

Shortly after the special session of the legislature opened Monday, Mr. Steinkopf was served with a writ by one of his constituents, Lawyer G. R. Stubbs, asking him to show cause why he should sit in the legislature.

UN Unit Flexes Muscles

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A heavily armed UN emergency battle force carried out manoeuvres in the capital Friday. (See Page 3.)

It was the second major show of force against entrenched Greek and Turkish gunposts in Nicosia within the last 48 hours.

The new mobile battle force, consisting of Canadians, Danes and Finns, appeared to be a determined bid by peace force commander Kodendera Thimayya to bring the Nicosia situation "under control."

'Canada's Crisis' Explained

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP) — U.S. Senator Ernest Gruening said Friday real understanding between French and English Canadians could come about if all Canadians became bilingual and more aware of each other's cultures.

The Alaska Democrat said: "I can see only enrichment of life's content for all Canadians from the integration of two such rich cultural legacies, complementing, supplementing, diversifying, and stimulating each other."

Senator Gruening, speaking to 70 prominent Canadian and American industrialists at the

Bolivia Cuts Cuba Ties

LA PAZ (UPI)—Bolivia announced Friday that it was severing diplomatic relations with Cuba. The move left only Mexico and Uruguay among Latin American nations still maintaining relations with the Castro regime. Bolivia took action despite its opposition to such moves at last month's Organization of American States meeting.

Child Beatings

Coroners Alerted

VANCOUVER (CP) — A call for a great effort by doctors, welfare workers and law enforcement agencies to track down cases of deliberate child beatings was issued Friday by Ontario's head coroner.

Dr. H. D. Cotnam told the National Association of Coroners that the number of child beatings by parents has increased alarmingly until it has become a "major social problem."

BEATEN TO DEATH

He said that in Ontario alone in the past year 20 children, most of them babies under the age of three, have been beaten to death by their parents or older brothers or sisters.

"I feel that for each of the 20 proven deaths there are 100 cases of beaten and abused children," he said. "These cases are not all found in large cities by any means but are distributed widely throughout our province."

SUSPECTED CASES

Dr. Cotnam said all local coroners in Ontario had been alerted to watch for any suspected case of child beating.

". . . Our coroners are not only on the alert to find 'battered-child' deaths when they occur but they are anxious to assist all interested people and organizations at the local level to prevent such deaths if possible."

Fans Trap Beatles In Dressing Room

SEATTLE (AP) — A screaming crowd of teen-agers trapped the Beatles in their dressing room at the Seattle Coliseum Friday night.

The Beatles had appeared for 20 minutes, during which time the stage was peppered with jelly beans, peanuts and even a fountain pen.

When the Beatles left the stage a group of 15 to 20 teen-agers charged toward them, but police managed to throw up a cordon long enough to get the group to its dressing room.

The quartet was trapped for 50 minutes. Then, police backed an ambulance into a dark recess near the exit and spirited the group to safety.

Goldwater:

A-Weapons Should Be Handier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater underscored Friday his proposal for "more ready access" to small tactical nuclear weapons for the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

* * *

The Republican nominee for president later on the Senate floor endorsed the United States social security system and announced he will support a five-per-cent increase in benefits.

Goldwater reiterated his opposition to President Johnson's plan for health care for the elderly under the social security system.

In a fast-paced day on Capitol Hill and at Republican headquarters, Goldwater also:

- Disavowed any desire to make a campaign issue of accounting methods that may have been used in arriving at published estimates of President Johnson's personal fortune and those of the Johnson family.
- Said he is investigating reports of trouble in the Minuteman missile program and called the situation "rather serious."
- Scanned his presidential election prospects in the southern states and said they are best in Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. "Georgia will be tough," he said.
- Accused the Soviet Union of Nazi-style repression of Jews and the Johnson Democratic administration of "deep amnesia" in its dealings with the Russians.

An accounting firm made public Wednesday a report that the net worth of Johnson's family was $3,484,000. Some Republicans have said the Johnson holdings are worth much more because the account listed them at purchase price.

South Has Johnson In a Vise

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Democrats heading into next week's national convention collided Friday with a threat of southern revolt and the formation of a third political party.

Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama put the threat into words. (See picture Page 14.)

Three busloads of Mississippians, mostly Negroes demanding delegate credentials, wheeled into town to battle against the seating of an all-white delegation from their state.

ANOTHER WALKOUT?

The day's developments signalled the possibility of another party - splintering civil rights ruckus that could lead to a repetition of a Southern Democrat walkout staged in 1948.

Wallace came here not to stay for the convention but only to talk to Democratic platform drafters.

He demanded repeal of the new federal civil rights law—a

Rebels Routed In Congo Drive

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Congolese government troops Friday drove leftist rebel forces from the important eastern city of Bukavu, leaving 300 persons, including seven Europeans, dead in the streets, radio reports said.

Bukavu, the fifth largest city in the Congo, was devastated during the three days of fighting; electricity, water and telephones were cut off, according to reports to the United Nations here.

SIGNIFICANT

Diplomats here said the army's victory was the most significant in the four-month-old struggle against the rebels, who control one-sixth of the country.

Meanwhile, in Leopoldville Friday more than 1,000 persons were expelled by ferry across the Congo River to Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

Expulsion of all nationals of the Congo (Brazzaville) and Burundi, and some nationals of Mali, was announced Wednesday.

TAKE MONTH

Trucks carrying those to be expelled from the former Belgian Congo began arriving at the dock here Friday afternoon. An official said it would take at least a month to complete the expulsions.

The rebels were reported earlier in full retreat on the road to Shanbunda, the western approach to Bukavu along which they launched their surprise attack Wednesday.

Eight Perish at Crossing

Sleepy Hamlet Jolted Awake

Morning Nightmare on the 'Special'

LEONARD, Ont. (CP)—Passengers spilled through shattered windows and holes gouged in the side of a day coach when the tailended cars of a crack Ottawa-Montreal train were rammed off the CPR main line by a loaded gravel truck Friday in this quiet Eastern Ontario community.

The toll: At least eight persons killed and about a score injured.

CRIES OF DYING

The tiny farm hamlet, about 20 miles southeast of Ottawa, was jarred to life about 8:20 a.m. EDT by the grinding crash, then the cries of the injured and dying.

The five-ton truck knifed into the "Businessmen's Special" at the third car from the rear of the passenger train.

DRIVER KILLED

The truck driver, Basil Czopyk, 43, of Ottawa, died as his northbound vehicle disintegrated at a crossing in the hamlet after ramming the eastbound train. The body of the Polish immigrant was partially buried under his gravel load.

Double-Trouble in South

law he said was endorsed in every aspect by the Democratic Party as having deliberately sponsored and sold "an alien philosophy of government which the American people cannot long embrace—an unsound and dangerous philosophy."

SOUNDS WARNING

He said southerners rose up in the days after the civil war to swing a presidential election to Republican Rutherford B. Hayes and:

"I come here today to sound a warning to the Democratic party of another such uprising."

LOYALTY TO COUNTRY

Wallace, who withdrew as a contender for the Democratic presidential nomination after making surprisingly strong showings in Maryland, Wisconsin and Indiana primaries, told the platform committee that "loyalty to party does not come before loyalty to country."

And he told it that if the Democratic and Republican Parties maintain similar views on civil rights through this year's campaign "then we will begin immediately after Nov. 3 (election day), to start a movement to bring about representative government."

OPENS MONDAY

To reporters inquiring whether this added up to a third party, the governor answered:

"We mean we will either take charge of one of the parties in the next four years, or a new movement will start."

The convention opens Monday to pick President Johnson for president and the man he wants for a running mate. This will be routine.

TWO HOT SPOTS

But Democrats usually stir up a fight about something—frequently civil rights. This time it is simmering in two spots, in the platform committee and the credentials committee. Party leaders are hunting for a way to keep it from boiling over onto the convention floor and winding up with a bolt by southerners such as they staged 16 years ago in Philadelphia.

Both Alabama and Mississippi are involved now, as they were then.

MAIN MENACE

The main menace to Democratic harmony centres in the determination of delegates of the Democratic Freedom Party of Mississippi to keep the regular Mississippi delegation from being seated at the convention.

The Freedom Democrats are largely Negro; the regulars are all white. It was the former who came in by bus Friday, prepared to take their battle to the convention floor.

SNUFF FIGHT

But the first significant rounds will be fought in the credentials committee, at its first meeting today.

Party officials and President Johnson want to snuff out a floor fight before it starts, since a victory for the Mississippi regulars might hurt the ticket among Negro voters in the north, while the seating of the challengers might swing white votes in the south to Republican nominee Barry Goldwater.

POSSIBILITIES

Johnson has been weighing three possibilities: Seating neither Mississippi delegations, seating both, or seating only delegates who promise to support his ticket.

Representatives of at least two Negro organizations are prepared to demonstrate on behalf of the Freedom Democrats, outside the convention.

COUNT ON 10

To bring the Mississippi issue to the convention floor Monday will take a majority vote of eight delegations. The Freedom Democrats say they can count on at least 10 delegations—California, Colorado, the District of Columbia, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Oregon, Washington and Wisconsin.

FINAL HEARINGS

The Democratic platform committee ran through final phases of its hearings Friday amid off-stage efforts to hew out a civil rights plank that would offend nobody unduly, even if it satisfied nobody completely. There was a general feeling that something could be worked out.

UN Special Unit Flexes Muscles

Just a week ago Lt.-Gen. Thimayya warned publicly that the United Nations had been unable to gain control in the capital "despite my best efforts." The repeated reinforcing of Greek and Turkish-Cypriot gun positions along the Green Line neutral zone got the blame.

The new UN crackdown began Thursday when armed UN troops ripped down two Turkish gun positions on the Green Line despite verbal protests by the Turkish-Cypriots.

Friday the mobile force, including scout cars, armored cars and jeeps mounted with recoilless rifles, raced around the northern suburbs of the capital.

Every so often the mobile force stopped unexpectedly and UN soldiers piled out, taking up battle positions in clear view of the Greek and Turkish-Cypriot gunposts.

It was a clear demonstration that the United Nations now is disposing its toughest force to be ready for instant action if new fighting erupts in the capital.

'Canada's Crisis'

Canadian-American Assembly, referred to the French-English problem as "Canada's crisis."

"It is clear that the French in Canada have never been mistreated comparably to the Negro in the United States," he said.

But the French feel they have been discriminated against and are in revolt.

Canada's system of two official languages has made Canadian culture richer than the monolingual establishment in the United States, he said.

PROFOUND EFFECT

The senator said the outcome of the French-English crisis in Canada and the Negro civil rights movement in America will have a profound effect on each nation's future.

He described America's treatment of the Negro as a "national disgrace" and "a violation of the inspiring premises of our declaration of independence."

"It's correction is long overdue, but I am happy to say it is coming. More progress has been made in this field in the last decade . . . than in the previous 93 years since Abraham Lincoln freed the slaves.

FREE TRADE

Senator Greuning said he would like to see the "somewhat discredited" proposal of free trade between the U.S. and Canada reopened and re-explored.

"That would be one way to exalt our border and restore its mythical sanctity," he said.

"Perhaps an entirely new over-all approach in tariff negotiations is in order."

Nightmare

in Leonard, said the crash woke her.

"When I got to my back porch they were sitting there," she said. "Some were crawling. I gave them water and towels to mop up the blood."

The cement - and - wood CPR pump house that had stood near her home was gone, destroyed by the careering coach that carried the train victims to their deaths.

SLASHED LIMBS

It was through the shattered windows of this coach that most of the passengers came flying, the jagged fragments slashed off limbs. The lumbering coach crushed other helpless victims.

"I saw feet with no bodies, bodies with no skin," was the recollection of one horrified survivor, Sister Mary Alberta of Philadelphia.

LAST RITES

"There was a terrible shock and I was going through the window. There was broken glass and dirt everywhere. Next to me a woman was screaming. Her back was broken and a priest was giving her the last rites."

As the first of 10 ambulances arrived at the scene, along with cars bringing police and reporters, the townsfolk seemed stunned. None could recall any similar tragedy at the crossing of the gravel county road and the CPR main line. There are no flashing wig-wag signals at the point, only wooden "X" arms.

'BATTLE' AFTERMATH

The diesel engine, a baggage car and three coaches made it through the community before the sixth unit, the death coach, left the tracks, pulling a diner and a parlor car with it. The latter two remained upright and their occupants, shaken but unharmed, climbed down to see the battle-like aftermath of the crash.

About 100 yards back they saw the pieces of the truck. Later the driver's body was found partially buried in his own gravel load. The truck engine was 150 feet from the crossing. But it was the death coach that held all eyes.

STOPPED BY TREE

It lay at a crazy angle, surrounded by twisted rails. A huge tree was all that stopped the coach from plowing into the Woods home.

On the ground, some partly under the coach, lay the victims. Many were horribly disfigured. Several were obviously dead. Some passengers, their hands and faces torn and bloody, crawled through the wreckage.

CONSOLE BOY

"It was the most dreadful thing you could imagine," said Heward Grafftey, Conservative MP for Brome-Missisquoi, who had been in the diner.

"About all I could do was console a little boy who watched as his mother and father died," Mr. Grafftey said.

ESCAPE INJURY

Also in the diner were Air Marshal Hugh Campbell, former chief of air staff; Jean - Luc Pepin, Liberal MP for Drummond-Athabaska, and Ernest Steele, undersecretary of state. None was injured.

Doug Innes, 17-year-old son of Commons Committee Clerk Eric Innes, was in the crumpled coach but escaped uninjured. He said he saved himself by holding his head and neck, and clinging to the seat. He said he thought older people in the coach had slower reactions "and didn't have a chance."

"Some people were thrown out of the windows and the train rolled on them," he said.

Howard Jensen, 39, of Toronto, recalled "a sudden crash . . . then it was a nightmare."

"I was thrown into the aisle and pinned to the floor by a woman who had been sitting up ahead. When I managed to scramble to my knees I saw that the woman was dead. She had terrible head injuries."

PINNED FOR HOURS

One body remained pinned under the coach for hours after the crash. Only when giant railway equipment righted the coach was the body freed.

One priest in the coach, Rev. Gaston Lassonde of Aylmer, Que., lost a foot when he was pitched through the coach window.

Later a policeman found the foot, packed it with ice and rushed it to St. Louis de Montfort Hospital in Ottawa where the priest lay in critical condition. But doctors said it was too late to attempt a graft.

Trains were rerouted while the line was being cleared.

Nicotine Just Adds to Woes Of Chilling Buerger's Disease

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about the cause, treatment and symptoms of Buerger's disease. My husband has ice cold hands and feet all the time, and also cramps in his legs.

He uses an electric heating pad at his feet every night. Will exercise help this condition? — MRS. E. K.

Buerger's disease is a disorder of the small arteries of the extremities. A type of inflammation occurs in the walls of these arteries and the consequence is impaired circulation.

Not all cases are alike, and thorough study of each one is necessary. In some cases, you see, there can be a patchy type of obstruction in larger branches of the arteries. When this occurs, naturally, circulation will be impaired farther down, too.

Whichever type is present, the result is similar: coldness, and cramps in the legs. (There are other causes of leg cramps, too.)

ABANDON NICOTINE

In Buerger's disease particularly, nicotine tends to constrict the small arteries, and when the circulation already is impaired, smoking makes the trouble much worse. The habit should be abandoned completely by anyone with Buerger's disease.

Sometimes drugs can be used with success to dilate the small arteries. Occasionally an operation called lumbar sympathectomy is helpful. This means cutting certain nerves which control the tone of the arteries. When these nerves are cut, the arteries remain relaxed and can dilate, thus permitting greater circulation, and the feet (and hands) become warmer. Frankly, this is not successful as often in Buerger's disease as it is in the somewhat similar Raynaud's disease. All the same, it sometimes succeeds.

EXERCISE HELPS

Buerger's exercise very often helps. This is really quite simple. The patient lies on his back, then raises and lowers the legs one at a time. Hold it vertical for about a minute, then lower it and raise the other. Repeat several times.

Then do the whole thing again, several times a day.

Readers who have my leaflet on "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains" will note that I suggest Buerger's exercise for cramps which have nothing to do with Buerger's disease. Many people, especially in the age bracket of the 50s and beyond may have quite a bit of trouble with leg cramps, yet not have Buerger's arterial ailment. For them, the exercises, as well as diet changes and sometimes the use of certain medications, help immensely.

★ ★ ★

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend was in a hospital with pericarditis. He is now home but still in bed for two months more. Could you please explain this disease?—MRS. E. L.

Most heart trouble is understandable on the basis of "how a pump works." The motor running the pump becomes weakened, or the valves which are integral parts of the "pump" don't open or close properly.

Pericarditis is a bit different. The covering of the heart is the pericardium. Pericarditis is an inflammation of that covering. Instead of having an inflamed finger, or inflamed tonsils, or whatever, you have an inflammation of the covering of the heart.

This inflammation may interfere with the operation of the heart. That's the danger, and the reason for the long bed rest which sometimes is required.

Turks to Get Food

NICOSIA (CP)—The Cyprus government informed the United Nations and the International Red Cross Friday of a plan to allow strictly rationed supplies of food to enter four Turkish-Cypriot areas.

A United Nations spokesman said the government had drawn up a chart of the calories required by adults, pregnant women and children in various age groups and the proposed weekly supplies of essential food based on these requirements.

The spokesman stated the government plan was for the Turkish-Cypriot quarter of Nicosia and the Turkish-Cypriot villages of Lefka, Kokkina and Limitis in northwest Cyprus.

The rationing plan was proposed in case Turkish-Cypriot leaders rejected a suggestion by President Makarios that they should open roads under their control in return for freedom of movement on government-controlled roads.

The UN spokesman said this applied particularly to the key Nicosia-Kyrenia Road, most of which has been under Turkish-Cypriot control since communal violence flared last December.

The Cyprus government agreed to a UN request for an emergency shipment of food to Kokkina, centre of recent heavy fighting.

The UN spokesman said Galo Plaza, special representative of UN Secretary General U Thant, and International Red Cross representatives would study the rationing plan.

Turkish-Cypriot communities in the rest of the island would continue to receive normal food supplies.

'You Don't Know My John'

WINNIPEG (CP) — A mother was pleading with a University of British Columbia staff member for re-admission of her son who had failed.

The professor told her that many young men who didn't go to university were able to live busy and useful lives.

"You really don't know my John," replied the mother. "He's so stupid he'll never be able to hold a job unless he has a university degree."

Dr. Hugh Saunderson, president of the University of Manitoba, told the story Thursday to the Canadian Federation of University Women.

McCreary Report

Major Building Plan Urged for Chronics

Major construction in Vancouver and new facilities at all general hospitals in British Columbia are recommended in a report on B.C.'s chronic care needs released Friday.

The product of three years of study under Dr. John F. McCreary, dean of medicine at the University of B.C., the report was supported in a statement by Health Minister Martin.

FROM HOSPITALS

But Mr. Martin said initiative to get the scheme moving must come from the hospitals.

The McCreary report urges a 100-bed provincial rehabilitation hospital near the existing Vancouver General Hospital. The structure would be encompassed and run by the G. F. Strong Rehabilitation Centre.

ASSESSMENT UNIT

The report also calls for an 80- to 120-bed patient activation and assessment unit at Vancouver General.

All general hospitals should have new facilities for long-term care and for expanded out-patient care, it said. Nursing-home care must be studied carefully with governments assuming patient costs.

The report said general hospital beds occupied by the chronically ill are urgently needed for acute care. New units should be near the Vancouver General in order to benefit from consultant services, avoid duplication of diagnostic facilities, draw more doctors into rehabilitation work and provide a teaching ground for medical students and nurses.

ACTIVATION UNIT

The McCreary committee said every general hospital should have an activation and assessment unit for the care of patients who do not require all the facilities of a general hospital.

It said that as long as the B.C. Hospital Insurance Society pays for certain rehabilitative and special help services for in-patients—and not for out-patients—acute beds will continue to be occupied unnecessarily.

OBVIOUS NEED

"There is an obvious need for more nursing home beds to provide for more ready removal of appropriate patients."

But, at the same time, ability to pay was not a proper measure for admission to nursing homes and the financial costs of this care should be taken from the shoulders of the patient, said the committee.

Soviet Minister Touring Prairies

REGINA (CP)—Soviet Agriculture Minister I. P. Volovchenko is to arrive in the heart of Canada's breadbasket tonight for a three-day stay.

The minister, returning a visit to the Soviet Union by Canadian Agriculture Minister Harry Hays, is to spend Sunday morning flying over grain farms in the Regina area.

Sunday afternoon, Monday and much of Tuesday is to be spent touring farms in region.

The Province of Saskatchewan planned a dinner for Mr. Volovchenko Sunday and the minister is to meet with Provincial Agriculture Minister A. H. McDonald Monday.

THREE WEEKS

Mr. Volovchenko, who started a three-week tour of Canada Wednesday at Ottawa, was accompanied by five Soviet agriculture, trade and economic officials.

He is to spend three days in the Swift Current area before driving to Calgary, Mr. Hays home, Thursday.

Loud Burp Announces The Leader

LONDON (UPI) — Is your baby an aggressive burper? If so, you may be holding a future president or prime minister in your arms.

That was a theory cited by Dr. Milton Berger, a New York psychotherapist. He said he got it from "an obviously competent" English nurse.

Some babies, she said, try to hold back burps because they are strong and determined.

"But when it comes up, it comes up strong and clear," she said. "These are the leaders."

"Dithering" burpers "make up the masses."

Police Chief To Probe Use of Force

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Constable Ralph Booth has ordered an investigation into a magistrate's charge that police used excessive force in arresting a man and his son for obstructing. Magistrate James Bartman made the charge before giving Wilfred Hopkins a suspended sentence for assaulting a police officer. Hopkins son was not charged.

The Only Hope

ALREADY BESET by national rivalries both within and without Cyprus and continually plagued by the island republic's unco-operative civil government, the United Nations peace force is now faced with financial difficulties.

Placing his latest problem squarely before the world at large, UN Secretary-General U Thant has warned that unless some $2,000,000 is found to maintain UN troops on the island he may be forced to withdraw them within the next few weeks.

Should this be allowed to happen it could result in a national—perhaps international—tragedy of the first magnitude. For though it must be admitted that the UN force has been severely hampered in its efforts to enforce peace on Cyprus, its presence alone has been sufficient to temper a situation which by now could have conceivably resulted in either mass genocide or military interference by outside powers.

Though the cynics in our midst can easily say that these things will happen in any case as soon as the UN force withdraws, whether it be this month or next year, and point to the mounting turmoil in the Congo as the evidence of their foresight in such matters, the fact remains that while the UN is in Cyprus in force hope for an ultimate settlement of the republic's problems still exists.

Surely member countries of the United Nations, even those who pay little more than lip service to the aims and goals of the international organization, cannot now collectively reject that hope which only the UN peace force is able to keep alive.

Indeed, any nation which now turns its back on the secretary-general's request for aid would lose its moral right to remain a member of the United Nations because in spurning the appeal it would also spurn the very ideals upon which the organization was founded.

These ideals or purposes of the United Nations are clearly defined in Article 1 of the Charter and each member must subscribe to them before being admitted. They are: to maintain international peace and security, to develop friendly relations among nations based on the principle of equal rights and the self-determination of peoples, to achieve international co-operation in solving economic, social, cultural and humanitarian problems, to promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms and to be a centre for the harmonization of the nations' actions in the attainment of these common ends.

Just how honestly and sincerely member governments of the United Nations abide by this common pledge will be seen within the next few days.

Cheap Contribution

AS ANTICIPATED, Premier Bennett's plan to hold the world's largest industrial fair in 1967 and his lack of enthusiasm for a British Columbia exhibit at the Montreal exposition have been looked on with disappointment and disapproval in the east. Surely, said The Gazette in Montreal, this was one year in which the premier could have given the country and its centennial priority, and made his major effort in Canada's first world's fair. It was a sad note he had struck—"all the sadder for being so loud."

If there is a hint in this criticism that the B.C. Industrial fair will detract from Expo '67, certainly it would seem unjustified. The two events will be of different kinds, both calculated to draw people and business to Canada, but the western one hardly apt to take away interest or attendance from the eastern. On the contrary, it should have to some degree the nationally beneficial effect of helping to encourage travel through Canada to and from the world's fair.

Not so readily acceptable, however, is the image of cheapness invoked for this proudly thriving and developing province by Mr. Bennett's coolness to exhibiting at the Montreal show because it will be far away and the "returns," perhaps, minor. The appearance is made worse, not better, by the plan to discuss with the three prairie provinces the possibility of entering a joint showing, as if to confirm British Columbia as part of the vague westward reaches and without distinction.

How the provincial government assesses the potential economic returns on taking part in Expo '67 is a bit of a mystery. It seems obvious, though, that the return on not participating, or of exhibiting on the cheap, would be for British Columbia to look pretty small.

Groos Rides Again

ONCE AGAIN Victoria MP David Groos has courageously flung himself upon his political horse and ridden madly off in all directions.

Fearlessly taking a firm foothold on the flag issue while simultaneously taking a detached view (to use his own words) he told the House of Commons that he had been a supporter of the Red Ensign and would make no apologies for his stand.

But when the flag had become an issue he had suddenly seen the need of looking far beyond his own personal views. And in this, he added, he had been heartened by the reaction of his constituents.

Victorians, he said, have taken a tolerant, restrained and understanding approach to the issue and his mail indicates that they are changing their views on the flag.

What these were he doesn't explain.

We applaud Mr. Groos for deciding to take a firm stand on the flag issue. Now, will he please tell us what it is?

Or should we ask his horse?

The Many Occupants of Cyprus

A Long History of Strife

By DON GAIN

THERE'S nothing new about strife in Cyprus. This island in the eastern Mediterranean is the crossroads to the Middle East and therein lies its strategic importance to many countries and the root of most of its troubles.

Its geographical location makes it desirable to the Greeks as a bulwark against the Turks and vice versa. Disraeli found possession of the island a necessity in 1878. Parliament gave him permission to take it by force from the Turks if he could not arrange the takeover diplomatically but his diplomacy worked.

The first English conqueror of the island didn't even want it. He was Richard the Lion-Hearted.

Cyprus history is long and bloody. In the museum at Nicosia you can see stone bowls dating back to 5800 BC. There's no history of her strife in those days, but as early as 1450 BC the Egyptian Pharaoh Thotmes III of the 18th dynasty conquered the island. He was followed by the Phoenicians and then the Assyrians.

In the 6th century BC, Herodotus tells us, Cyprus was again under the rule of Egypt. Then came the Persians, then an alliance with the Ionians. About 34 BC the island fell into the hands of Alexander the Great of Macedon. The Egyptians took it back, only to lose it to the successor of Alexander.

Ten years later it was again in the hands of the Egyptians. It remained under the Ptolemies for nearly 250 years. The timber from her forests was used for the building of Egyptian ships and agricultural and other products of the island increased Egyptian revenue.

The Romans took it in 58 BC and kept it for more than 300 years. It was said that Antony gave it to Cleopatra. Solon visited it and Cicero. It was during Roman rule, 46 years after Christ's ministry, that St. Paul went to the island with Barnabas, who was born there, and John Mark. He set up the first Christian community at Paphos.

In AD 116-117 there was a insurrection by the Jews who formed a large part of the population. They massacred thousands of Greeks. It took the Roman governor Lucius two years to suppress the insurrection and he expelled all Jews from the island. There are still very few Jews in Cyprus.

When the Roman Empire was divided in 395 AD Cyprus became the property of the Byzantine Empire and remained so until 1184.

But during this period there were several Arab invasions. During one of them the seaport of Larnaca was temporarily captured in 632 by Abou Bakr, father-in-law of Mohammed. Another was responsible for the establishment of a venerated shrine of the Moslems which exists to this day. The Lady Umm Haram, wife of a companion of the Prophet Mohammed and believed to be his aunt, took part in the invasion.

According to the translation of the inscription at her shrine she was attacked by "Genoese infidels and falling from her beast (a mule) she broke her pellucid neck and yielded up her victorious soul, and in that fragrant spot at once was buried." That fragrant spot was on the shore of a salt lake near Larnaca. A mosque was built over her tomb, the Tekke, and it is still there.

In 1191 Richard the Lion-Hearted, sailing in his great red Dromond on his way to Acre, was forced by a storm to land at Rhodes. He was accompanied in another ship by Berengaria of Navarre to whom he was betrothed and his widowed sister, the dowager Queen of Sicily. The ships were separated in the storm. Setting sail from Rhodes, Richard's ship was overtaken by another storm which drove his ship into the Satalian Gulf in the Levant. The vessel with the two royal ladies was driven in another direction and finally took refuge in Cyprus off Limassol.

Isaac Comnenos, a great nephew of Emperor Manuel I of Constantinople, had proclaimed himself Emperor of Cyprus. He pillaged some of Richard's wrecked ships and tried to take the two royal ladies as hostages. Richard arrived in the nick of time and saved them. He captured Limassol and married Berengaria on the island. After further trouble from Isaac, Richard took the whole island and imprisoned the self-made emperor.

Richard is said to have kept Cyprus only a month before he sold it to the Knights Templar. After about a year they wanted to sell it back to him but he had spent his money on the Third Crusade and couldn't afford it.

He gave it to Guy de Lusignan, one of the Kings of Jerusalem. It was in the hands of the Lusignan kings for 300 years until the Venetians took it over. They kept it for 82 years, from 1489 to 1571 when the Turks moved in and after a bloody campaign subdued the island and made it a part of the Ottoman Empire.

This was its status when Disraeli decided in 1878 that it should become a part of the British Empire. He made an agreement with the sultan of Turkey under which the sultan retained nominal power. In 1914 when Turkey entered the war against the Allies, the British offered the island to Greece if that country would join the Allies. The offer elapsed and Cyprus became a Crown Colony.

It had a representative government until 1931 when Greek Cypriots burned down Government House. The country was placed under direct control of the Colonial Office and remained there until 1960 when it became a republic and a member of the British Commonwealth.

Its present constitution is considered unworkable by many observers because it gives the Turkish minority the right to veto any legislation they don't agree with. But since Christmas the Turks have not participated in the government. It has been run by the Greeks.

The present troubles, as one observer remarked, are probably marked by the least bloodshed of any in her long bloody history. With the present worsening of relations between Greek and Turk on the island this condition could change overnight.

For diversification of those under arms on her soil the present situation probably establishes some kind of a record. There are at least 10 nations represented among the 7,000 UN troops.

Many of these countries probably feel like the Knights Templar did—they would like to be free of Cyprus.

But the strategic position of the island makes it a hot potato for the world. It has come painfully close to being dropped.

It is to be hoped that enough cool heads will be able to hold on until the hot potato cools off.

'The Little Seven'

Problem of Finance

By JOHN CROCKER from Bridgetown, Barbados

PART of the western seaboard of the 166 square mile, semi-tropical coral island of Barbados is called the Platinum Coast. This is to distinguish it from, and to imply that it is even more idyllic for those who seek sun, sand and sea, than the neighboring part known as the Gold Coast. The name is apt; this particular stretch of sand is in many ways superior even to Hawaii or Sydney.

Several plush, expensive hotels have sprung up along this beach in recent years. One hotel director said: "For the first time this year we expect to gross over a million West Indian dollars." Barbados (population 245,000) now has the third highest per capita income in the world from tourism at $318.70 (West Indian) per annum. Only Jersey and Bermuda are higher. Sugar, the traditional money-maker of Barbados, is no longer king.

I arrived here after visiting some of the eight remaining British West Indian island colonies. One thing is clear—that people feel that it is no longer practicable to rely on traditional industries—sugar, cocoa, rum, copra, etc—for economic development. And there is a growing feeling that it might be wise to give up the idea of becoming totally independent from Britain.

At the moment there are seven British islands, formerly known as the Leewards and the Windwards. Antigua, Montserrat, Dominica, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Barbados and Grenada, reading from north to south on the map—and a unit of three small islands known as St. Kitts-Nevis-Anguilla. Barbados has the largest population, but none of the others reach 100,000, and Montserrat has only 13,000. Until 1962 they formed part of the ill-fated ten-island West Indies Federation, which included Jamaica and Trinidad.

The present government of Grenada wants the island to become part of a unitary state with Trinidad. The others, since the collapse of the federation, have been talking—and squabbling — about forming another federation, known as the Little Seven, but not much progress has been made in this direction.

Before coming here I had been talking to some local politicians in a house near the airport at St. John's, the rather drab wooden capital of Antigua. The noise made by the almost continuous influx of large jet passenger aircraft frequently interrupted the talk, but its general trend was clear.

Here is an island of some 62,000 population—almost entirely Negro—whose main revenue-producing crop is sugar. At present, due to events in Cuba, world sugar prices are reasonably high, but there can be no guarantee that they will continue at this level. On the other hand, Antigua, which possesses some fine beaches, has in recent years been going through a hotel-building boom, and there are now more than 20 catering for tourists.

These hotels, my companions admitted, might be expensive, charging anything up to $32 (U.S.) a day, but they seem to be getting the customers—the overflow, possibly, of the rich U.S. tourist seam centred around Puerto Rico's plush Condado beach area.

By all means, they said, let Antigua join some association with the other six islands to encourage mutual trade; let there even be some sort of political association, but why go to the expense of trying to set up an independent nation of 62,000 people, or even an independent federation of not much more than 600,000?

Why not maintain the association with Britain, whereby all the expenses of maintaining an army, representation abroad, and all the other costly trappings of nationhood are avoided? Why not take a leaf out of the Puerto Rican book, which gains vastly and loses nothing by maintaining its status of "a free Commonwealth associated with the United States?" In this way, with London playing the role of Washington, it would be much easier to concentrate on developing new sources of revenue, such as tourism, to replace the traditional ones, such as sugar.

Similar thinking is going on in St. Lucia and St. Vincent. Near Castries, St. Lucia's capital, a beach hotel has recently been opened and there are at least two major development schemes involving millions of U.S. dollars now under consideration.

Opposing this view are the various islands' chief ministers and leading politicians who demand a totally independent (within the British Commonwealth) federation of the Little Seven: it must come next year; the United Kingdom government must stop "dragging its feet"; no more colonialism of any sort.

There is also the cry from the Barbados premier, Mr. Errol Barrow, that "we have absolutely nothing to gain from continuing our present relationship with Britain." Barbados, he says, is prepared to "go it alone" to independence, but he takes the view that, if and when this does happen, it need not be considered an obstacle to the formation of a Little Seven Federation, pointing out that the Malaysian Federation has two dependent and two independent members.

The problem, however, about setting up a Little Seven federation, whether totally or partially independent, is basically one of finance.

Experts have said that a minimum of £60 million investment over a 10-year period would be needed to put the group on its feet. The figure has been put as high as £100 million. But Britain has stated more than once that it considers this a very large sum to spend on only 600,000 people, and that it cannot make a special case of the West Indian islands.

On the other hand, it is pointed out here that Britain spends some £1,250,000 annually on grants-in-aid to the islands, with the exception of Barbados, which is able to pay its own way. It would surely be wise policy, the argument runs, to substitute for the grants-in-aid a capital investment sum of £60 million on which some return could be expected.

Another difficulty about a Little Seven Federation is that the islands' political leaders are unable to agree on a federal constitution—a strong central government or a weak one? Total economic integration or loose trading agreements? And there are the inevitable issues concerning federal taxation and representation in the central government. Britain has clearly indicated that these matters must be settled by the islands before any conclusion can be reached.

At the moment, despite intergovernmental talks and conferences, both in the West Indies and in London, agreement on these issues appears to be as far away as it ever was; and in Britain, it is believed here, is more determined now than ever that it will not allow the same mistakes to be made with a Little Seven constitution as were made with that of the Big Ten.

Meanwhile, Sir Arthur Lewis, former vice-chancelor of the University College of the West Indies—now a full-fledged university — who is studying the break-up of the Big Ten federation for the Carnegie Corporation, said recently that he considered 1965 to be the earliest possible date for a resumption of talks on the future of the small islands: "I should not be surprised if the British government made an appeal to the UN to be granted its independence from the Windwards and the Leewards." He added that they were very nice little islands and pleasant to live in, but . . .

Odd Unemployment Picture

The U.S. Catches Up

By CHARLES MacNAB

BEHIND the rumblings of the current business expansion there's a curious unemployment picture developing that has economists wondering what's going on.

While it's now clear that unemployment in Canada was reduced to levels considerably below those south of the border during the last five months of 1963 and the first five months of 1964, the July figures just released show the U.S. has caught up and passed us.

It's a bad time of year for comparisons with the U.S. figures, economists point out —our July figures are based on a five-week period and our school closings are later than in the U.S. But the indications are that the U.S. will have a better unemployment picture in the months ahead. Some economists are asking whether we should have had a tax cut, too.

As of July 18, our seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment stood at 5.0 per cent (better by 0.9 per cent than last July). It was only a slight decline from June which saw unemployment here shoot from 4.7 per cent to 5.2 per cent, just .1 per cent below the U.S. figure.

But the U.S. figures for mid-July saw their rate nosediving to 4.9 per cent from 5.3 per cent (seasonally adjusted) in June—the first time in 53 months that their rates have fallen below the 5.0 per cent level.

As one economist expressed it, "There is some division of opinion as to the causes of unemployment. Between policy makers in government and outsiders there's a strong division as to what weight should be attached to the various causes. The policies that are being pursued right now have long-run objectives. But nothing is being pursued vigorously.

"There can be a mismatching in regions, age, sex, or skills. If there is a mismatching, then policies aimed at increasing demand won't have much effect on unemployment.

"On the other hand there may be no mismatching but simply a deficiency in demand. The U.S. tax cut, for example, was designed to stimulate demand in the economy. If their view was right then an improvement in the U.S. economy will start showing up soon."

Although recent figures from DBS indicate some slowdown in the economy in the last month or so it's generally regarded as temporary. Record expenditures on new capital projects and equipment are expected to show up soon in a higher rate of industrial production and added demand.

One view has it that Ottawa's winter-building program moved the usual springtime resurgence of business back into the cold weather months, moving our rate of industrial production ahead of the U.S. rate and our unemployment rate lower than theirs.

And as we mark time for a while in the wake of the earlier expansion, the American economy is just beginning to catch fire from the Johnson tax cut in March.

Another view suggests that our expansion here has been more "labor intensive" than the U.S. expansion. A greater use of automatic equipment in the U.S. is supposed to have resulted in a slower decline in the rate of unemployment. But labor economists say there's no proof of this.

★ ★ ★

Latest figures indicate that all regions have shared in the year to year improvement.

But the blue devil still remains in the background: "creeping unemployment" is evident in both regional and national statistics, especially since 1956.

What's really bothering the policy makers is the fact that the surge of youngsters about to enter the labor picture will be the most difficult age group to place. Latest figures show that out of 265,000 persons unemployed in mid-July, 84,000 were from the 14-19 year age group.

The unemployment rate for experienced workers is probably as low as it's been for a decade—the department of labor is reporting a shortage of certain kinds at the moment in Southern Ontario and in the Prairie region.

Today in History

By The Canadian Press

The International Red Cross was established at Geneva 100 years ago today—in 1864. The organization for the relief of suffering owes its founding to the Swiss banker, Jean Henri Dunant, who was so moved by the suffering he witnessed at the Battle of Solferino in 1859 that he urged the formation of such a voluntary aid society.

1935—Social Credit forces led by William Aberhart came to power in Alberta.

1950—Canada experienced the beginning of a paralysing nine-day strike by 15 unions.

From the Scriptures

And the disciples marvelled, saying, What manner of man is this, that even the winds and the sea obey Him! — St. Matthew, 9:37.

Goldwater Staging Feud with Pentagon

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press

The Republican party and its presidential candidate Barry Goldwater are smiting President Johnson high and low these days.

He doesn't seem to be ducking at what is the start of a long campaign before the Nov. 3 balloting.

★ ★ ★

But Senator Goldwater also has an issue going just between himself and the Pentagon, the United States defence department.

The president is being clouted about the size and origins of his wealth. The Republicans are wringing all possible political capital out of Democratic party congressional action which—in effect—ditches provisions for a television debate between the two candidates.

★ ★ ★

Senator Goldwater keeps saying that the president tipped off North Viet Nam on television about the U.S. retaliatory air strike two weeks ago although the reply is that the North Vietnamese knew anyway via radar.

On top of these, the Arizona senator seems determined in a continuing debate with the Pentagon to make as much of an issue as he can of his assertions that U.S. capacity to deliver a nuclear blow in 1972 will have sagged by 90 per cent because of dependence on missiles. These can't carry as heavy nuclear weapons as bombers can.

★ ★ ★

In persistently raising this manned - bomber matter he doesn't seem to have any great burning public interest to cash in on.

★ ★ ★

What is of interest—to Canadians at least—is the fact that he is arguing largely with the Pentagon and the department is arguing right back in the absence of holidaying Defence Secretary McNamara.

A Canadian prime minister or minister certainly would draw on departmental information to delay or fend off a political attack, but it would be regarded as most improper for the department itself to become involved in an election campaign.

★ ★ ★

Thursday, the Pentagon told Senator Goldwater that his latest assertion was "totally without foundation in fact. It is false and if the senator would trouble to inform himself he would learn it to be false."

The Pentagon statement, not attributed to anybody, said the U.S. will have "manned bombers and plenty of them just as long as they are needed."

Buddhists Off Again

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP)—Angry Buddhist demonstrators are in South Vietnamese streets again, and the trappings look much the same as those leading to the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime last year.

The similarity ends there, but seasoned Saigon observers are puzzled by developments.

★ ★ ★

While Buddhist leaders have charged their faith again is being oppressed, there seems to be little evidence supporting the charge.

Buddhists have been permitted to fly their flag at publicly held major rallies and even denounce the Nguyen Khanh government on the radio. Students were permitted Friday to demonstrate in front of the presidential office and carry in a demand for Khanh's resignation.

★ ★ ★

Buddhists and students are demanding an end to military government, the state of emergency decree, press censorship, night curfew, alleged Buddhist repression, and abrogation of the national charter promulgated by Khanh last Sunday.

But orders calling for anti-government agitation were signed by Viet Nam's two top Buddhist leaders Aug. 14, before Khanh had himself elected chief of state and promulgated the charter.

★ ★ ★

Part of the unrest seems to arise from Buddhist objection to the ouste· of Maj. - Gen. Duong Van Minh and his civilian cabinet Jan. 30. Minh is popular with Buddhists for having led the military revolt against Diem last November.

Buddhist leaders want to make sure they can command the fear of the government. Buddhists are angry that many hold-overs of the Diem regime still are in office. This extends particularly to Maj. - Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the Vietnamese army's 2nd Corps, who joined the anti-Diem revolution only in its final stages.

In Tri's area a number of houses belonging to Buddhists were burned down recently by local officials, after occupants objected to attending a government "re - education meeting." Khanh removed the responsible officials and brought reparations to the families involved.

Khanh is a Buddhist. Diem was a Roman Catholic.

Many regard the attitude of Buddhist leader Tri Quang as enigmatic. Tri Quang, who came from Hue last summer to take charge of the Buddhist insurrection, escaped arrest during the pagoda raids by taking refuge at the U.S. Embassy.

★ ★ ★

Last summer Buddhists were subject to beatings and arrest (a number still are in mental institutions in Saigon following their release from police torture camps). The Viet Cong was slow to capitalize on the upheaval but lately the Viet Cong have been vigorously seeking to infiltrate the Buddhists.

★ ★ ★

"The Viet Cong and the Buddhist faith are the two groups in South Viet Nam closest to the rice roots of the country. It is natural at this point that the Viet Cong would want to direct the whole show," a U.S. official said.

"It comes to this," he added, "Vietnamese political leaders for years have made their names by opposing governments, first the French: Then Diem, and now Khanh. Opposition is a way of life here."

Business, Labor

Foreign Investment Needed, Say Delegates

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP) — While their American counterparts listened quietly, Canadian business, labor and academic leaders Thursday expressed discomfort at the need for foreign investment in Canada.

However, the delegates agreed in a panel discussion that Canada critically needed the investment and that the advantages of it offset the disadvantages.

The discomfort was expressed at the Western Canada-American Assembly meeting at this resort centre 70 miles east of Vancouver. The assembly is sponsored jointly by Columbia University and the University of British Columbia and has attracted 70 delegates from both countries.

Earlier the plenary session heard Dr. John Deutch, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, say that Canada is shifting from a position of dependence to one of greater self-reliance.

He said Canada has been heavily reliant on foreign capital. In the future it must rely less on foreign capital.

As Acting Mayor

Each Alderman To Take Turn

Who's the mayor when the mayor's not there?

The recent death of senior alderman Arthur Dowell precipitated the question of acting mayor at Friday's meeting of city council.

GIVE EXPERIENCE

Ald. A. W. Toone said he thought the previous pattern of having the senior alderman automatically assume the post should be changed. Rotation among other members of council would give experience in the demanding position to all and ultimately would benefit the city.

He was joined in this sentiment by Aldermen Lily Wilson and C. M. Parrott.

MOONEY DISSENTS

Senior Ald. Millard Mooney didn't agree. The system which had been in force for years had worked well, he thought, and shouldn't be discontinued.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, himself well into the ranks of the seniors, swung the tide in favor of the juniors and rotation.

Starting in September, and on a monthly basis, aldermen will, in turn, assume the post of acting mayor in the mayor's absence. Seniority will govern the rotation.

Chamber Project

Christmas Decor Plan Welcomed by City

A suggestion by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce that steps be taken to improve downtown Christmas decorations was warmly received by city council on Friday.

In a letter to Mayor R. B. Wilson, chamber manager John Coppinger said that a chamber sub-committee had been making studies.

ATTRACTIVE PLAN

It had come up with what looked like an attractive plan—one which took full advantage of the cluster lights in the business area.

No details of the plan were supplied but permission was asked to have sample decorations installed on a city light so that both aldermen and merchants could evaluate them.

CAPITAL COST

The chamber is thinking in terms of looking after the entire cost of the decorations with the city assuming the cost of installation.

Council went along with the suggestions in the letter.

Barbiturates Worse Than Heroin, Opium

VANCOUVER (CP)—A psychiatrist who deals with addicts by the score said Thursday night that barbiturates are becoming a much more serious problem in Canada than heroin and other opium derived drugs.

Dr. Robert Halliday, head of the narcotics addiction foundation of British Columbia, said barbiturates are Canada's biggest cause of drug deaths and cause more physical, social and emotional troubles than narcotics.

"A person may be loaded to the hilt with heroin and he's not likely to harm anyone," he said at a meeting of the National Association of Coroners.

"Alcohol and barbiturates are much more dangerous to society—they are more likely to lead to violent behavior," he said.

Big Tyee in Line To Win Award

The second largest Tyee to be entered in the 1964 Colonist King Fisherman Contest will be a 64-pounder taken by Robert Clarke of Campbell River.

Using a home-made plug and a 30-pound test line, the 24-year-old sports fisherman landed his fish at the edge of the famous Tyee Pool at Campbell River, about one week ago.

Mr. Clarke is not a Colonist subscriber and will not be eligible for one of the major prizes of the contest, but he is practically certain of winning a prince button for the month of August when he sends in his entry form.

The biggest Tyee ever recorded from Campbell River was a 73½-pounder caught earlier this month by eight-year-old Patricia Hughes of West Vancouver.

Jailed

Big Dog No Help To Boss

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Egan, 43, an unemployed truck driver, spent 24 hours in jail because his dog likes to swim.

He would have spent another four days in a cell if an anonymous dog lover had not paid his fine.

The whole thing started July 12 when the dog, King, part police dog, part labrador and huge, sprang from the window of the Egan's parked car and went swimming at one of the Stanley Park beaches.

A policeman appeared "from nowhere" and gave Egan a ticket.

On Aug. 3 Egan was fined $10 for having King on the public beach, $10 for not having a leash, and $10 for not having a dog licence.

He was told to pay the $30 by Aug. 17 or go to jail for five days. The clerk of the court refused to accept part payment with a promise to pay the rest in a week.

News Service Wrong About Laurentide Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Press reported erroneously Thursday that the Commons gave second reading that afternoon to a bill to incorporate the Laurentide Bank of Canada.

Instead, consideration of the Laurentide bill was postponed. Earlier, it had received first reading in the Commons after approval by the Senate.

It is one of two bank bills before the Commons. The other, providing for incorporation of the Bank of Western Canada, was debated Thursday but still has to receive second reading.

A third bank bill, to incorporate the Bank of British Columbia, has not yet passed the Senate.

The 'Pill' Works On Cats

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Ria Noyes, who keeps 17 cats, said Friday she keeps down the feline population by feeding her female cats contraceptive pills.

The cat lover lives in a low cost housing estate owned by the town council at Woking. After her neighbors complained about her cats, she was warned by the council.

"Make sure there aren't any more of them."

"After that warning," she told reporters, "I had to do something desperate. So, I went out and bought those pills."

Asked how the pills were working, she replied:

"So far so good, but I've only been using them for a few months. I got through the spring all right, though."

Firehall Suggestion Skirted by Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson Friday declined to comment on the possibility of the abandoned B.C. Hydro substation site on Bay Street being used for a new fire hall and police station.

"I don't know what the building is like," he said Friday. "But anyway, it would be a matter for the fire wardens."

COLONIST READER

The suggestion came from Colonist reader Lina A. Gale, 1037 Craigdarroch Road.

Mr. Gale suggested that the site was large enough for a new fire hall to replace the one on Burnside, and also suggested the building could be reconstructed as a new police station.

UGLY BUILDING

"The old police station is an ugly building and should be demolished," he says. "The sum of $375,000 allocated for renovations might better be expended on the old substation."

His suggestions followed a Colonist story Thursday which said the building was temporarily being used for storage and would probably be put up for sale.

If his suggestions were carried out, Mr. Gale says the Centennial Square parking facilities could be made at Cormorant and Government and the proposed Senior Citizens' Centre could be built facing the square.

A mall between these two structures would give access to the square from Cormorant Street. From the mall facing south would be a view of the new City Hall addition, and facing north a view of the "unique Chinese school."

Old Substation

Pet Seal Safe At Zoo

PORTLAND (AP) — A pet seal that escaped from its Vancouver owners near Albany last week is in captivity at the Portland zoo after being caught at an old ferry landing near Independence.

A $25 reward had been offered by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hancock of Vancouver who lost the seal while on a trip to California.

A truck driver spoted the seal Thursday and reported it to police. Leslie Snitker Jr. and Leslie Derowitsch, both sons of city employees, volunteered to net the animal. After two hours, they succeeded.

Dr. Matthew Maberry, Portland zoo veterinarian, was called to pick up the seal. He said it appeared to be in good condition.

Wall Street Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—A show of strength by airlines and some of the merger-minded railways helped give the stock market an irregular advance Friday.

The pace of trading, however, was the slowest this week.

Motors were narrowly mixed. Chrysler was the standout in this group, advancing ⅝ to 54⅝ on 70,600 shares.

Among Canadian issues traded, Canadian Pacific and International Nickel each rose ⅝ while Walker Gooderham lost ⅛, Dome Mines ⅝ and Distillers Seagrams ⅛.

Bigger Increases

Teachers Set Pay Goal

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — A goal of general salary increases ranging from four to 10 per cent was set Friday by the British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

Following a week-long study conference, the association's agreements committee said it is "inconceivable that teachers should be expected to tolerate a repetition of the pattern of two- and three-per-cent increases of the past few years."

AMPLE SUPPORT

Increases to other professions, the jump in company profits and the general climb of the gross national product "give ample support for salary increases in the general rate of four to 10 per cent."

The committee said it had no objection to teachers signing long-term contracts similar to those signed by workers in other industries recently.

LONG - TERM CONTRACTS

But any long-term contracts should provide salary increases "at least equal to what might be anticipated from annual negotiations."

"In view of the current pressure on students to remain longer in school and the chronic shortage in total supply of teachers, the committee believes that strenuous efforts must be made to increase the attractiveness of the profession.

"Evidence of an unsatisfactory supply situation is the unusual incidence of large classes in British Columbia schools and the inability of the provincial authorities to proceed with their previously announced policy of class-size reduction."

Machine Trend Dying

More Personality Restaurants' Goal

REGINA (CP) — The president of the Canadian Restaurant Association said here that in the next few years there will be a trend toward restaurants with personality and a move away from food-vending machines.

Harvey E. Smith, 33, of Saskatoon, said in an interview that boosters of food-vending machines claimed they provided quality ingredients and uniformly perfect cooking.

PERSONAL TOUCH LAST

"But the personal touch is lost when you become a push-button operation. In a few years, vending machines have gone from three to 15 per cent of the business. But the trend is dying now.

"Quality restaurants often succeed because they use a good host approach. Identify a well-thought-of restaurant with an individual and you have personality built in.

"People won't go there because they're hungry. They'll go there to dine."

Big Jim Gathers His B.C. Flock

VANCOUVER (UPI) — The world leader of an exclusive religious sect known as The Brethren is in Vancouver to attend a convention of the Sect's 200 members in the area.

Big Jim Taylor, who stands six feet and weighs 200 pounds, returned recently from Britain where he was a storm centre over teachings of the sect.

Sometimes called "The Archangel" or "The Saint," he was denounced by members of the British parliament and scorned by angry crowds.

UNTOLD MISERY

The American is accused of preaching a doctrine believed to have caused suicides, broken marriages and "untold misery" among Brethren families.

It is said Taylor, a Brooklyn tailor, believes members of the Brethren should separate themselves completely from non-Brethren, should not talk to them, do business with them or employ them, and especially not marry them.

Said Taylor: "We consider only that believers should not have fellowship with unbelievers . . . I work with unbelievers all the time . . ."

THE WORLD POPULATION WILL DOUBLE IN 36 YEARS

Obviously this will be good for our Canadian economy but fluctuations in certain types of business will continue as always.

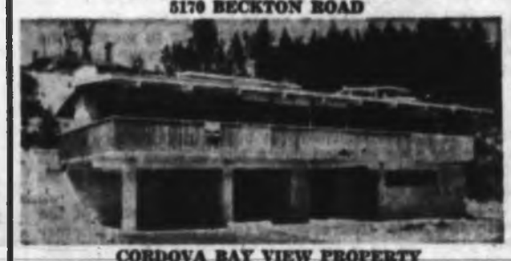

Antiquating services will diminish—ventures based on new services will appear—some will lose—some will win, and stay on to become institutional.

But the MORTGAGE business carries on through it all within its own sane, protective sphere — unheralded — non-dynamic — punching out its above-average yield year after year.

Victoria Mortgage Corp. Ltd. offers 7¼% on 5-year debentures; 7¼% 3½ years; 7% 1 year; (all callable on death); 6½% Demand. Interest paid quarterly (or compounded on request). Current Mortgages average 50% of appraised security, Share Capital further secures the debenture holder. For prospectus phone or write Douglas Hawkes, 617 Fort, 384-7138.

Fluoridation Council Deal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution that would give municipal councils power to fluoridate water supplies will be considered next month at the 61st convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities in Burnaby.

The resolution, introduced by Keremeos, would amend the Municipal Act to take the question of fluoridation out of the hands of the electorate at large.

THREE-FIFTHS MAJORITY

Councils would be able to approve the measure by a three-fifths majority vote.

The city of North Vancouver will propose a Criminal Code amendment permitting lotteries to raise money for education, public health, hospital construction and similar urposes.

SUNDAY SPORTS

And once more the UBCM will consider amending the Municipal Act to permit Sunday sports and entertainment outside Vancouver.

North Vancouver asks that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway be made subject to municipal property taxes on the same basis as other railways. The provincially-owned PGE is now exempt from municipal taxation.

Trustees Will Ensure SIU Vote Democratic

OTTAWA (UPI)—Labor Minister MacEachen said Friday that the maritime trustees "are making a determined effort" to ensure that the Seafarers International Union election of officers is "conducted in a democratic way."

MacEachen told the Commons that a committee composed of representatives of the trustees, the Canadian Labor Congress, the federal labor department and the SIU will 'oversee' the election to ensure that it is democratic.

The election will fill the Canadian presidency of the huge union, a post once held by Hal Banks, now the target of a nationwide police search.

MacEachen said he still did not know the whereabouts of Banks.

CANDIDATE QUERIED

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker asked if one of the candidates for Banks' job, Red McLaughlin, a vice-president of the SIU, was "one of those charged" with conspiracy and due for trial Sept. 15. MacEachen said he would make inquiries.

Crops Hit Heavily By Frost

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp told the Commons Friday that frost damage to grain crops in Saskatchewan is more extensive than was indicated earlier. The damage was showing up in the harvested grain.

Reynold Rapp (PC—Humboldt-Melford-Tisdale) asked Mr. Sharp for a report on the damage. Mr. Sharp said it occurred on Aug. 11, 12 and 13.

Richard R. Southam (PC—Moose Mountain) later asked whether the government would consider applying the same policy as applied by the Conservatives in 1961 under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, when farmers were allowed to use damaged grain for forage.

Bruce S. Beer (L—Peel), parliamentary secretary to Agriculture Minister Hays, said this would be a matter of policy.

Garden Notes

Watch for Freaks

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Most of us have, at one time or another, had an extra special plant turn up in our garden—one with flowers of unusual color or an improved habit of growth—and while we intend to save seed or perpetuate it in some way, we never got around to it, and so a prize has been lost to horticulture. So this year, if you think you have something better than average, do try to propagate it.

Judging by my mail, an unusual number of freaks and sports have been turning up this past two or three years; whether this is due to radioactive fallout, some quirk in the weather or some completely unsuspected cause, I wouldn't know, but I cannot recall having had so many oddities reported to me as this year.

* * *

Many of these weird accidents of nature have about as much value as a two-headed calf and should be put out of their misery promptly. Apart from these extremes, though, plants of real merit will often appear, and these strains are worth perpetuating, not by crossing or breeding, which is a bit tricky for the ordinary home gardener, but by selection. If seed is saved year after year from the very best pansies, beans, tomatoes or other plants, a strain can be developed which is markedly superior to run-of-the-mill purchased seed.

In saving seed, the first rule is to save only from the best plants. With seed potatoes, for instance, it is no good picking the best-looking tubers from the bin after the crop has been lifted—selection should be made DURING the lifting, taking seed for next year ONLY from the plants which produce clean, well-formed potatoes of good size and shallow eyes.

* * *

Tomatoes lend themselves admirably to the home saving of superior seed, and here again, the trick is not to select just the best fruits from a basketful, but pick the best fruits from the best truss in the best plant in the garden. Aim at a steady improvement of the strain over the years; it isn't likely that a miracle plant will develop in a single year. The seed firms are doing an outstanding job in producing good seed and in keeping strains pure, but they cannot be as ruthless and discriminating as the amateur who needs only a couple of dozen seeds for his own use.

The second rule in seed-saving is to leave the seed pod or fruit on the plant until it is dead ripe before picking. The only seeds I know which germinate better when slightly immature are those of the cherry family; all others must be allowed to complete their growth and ripen naturally.

Tomato seed isn't the easiest in the world to save, as it tends to go mouldy in storage unless cleaned thoroughly. I understand that commerical seed producers use a fermentation process and an acid bath, but there is a simple method which works well for the home gardener with only a small quantity of seed to process.

* * *

Select your dead-ripe tomato and cut it in quarters. Scrape out the pulp and seeds into a square of strong cloth, gather up the corners, and twist the cloth until the pulp is forced out, washing it off under the tap as pressure is applied.

Next, spread the seeds thinly on a sheet of glass, or on the inside of a window pane, using a table knife to do the spreading. After a few days the seeds and the mucilage binding them can be peeled off the glass in a sheet. Rub in the hands with a pinch of hydrated lime until separated, then package, label, and store in a cool, dry place.

Everyone Thinks He's Ordinary

How's It Feel to Be Rich?

By KATHARINE WHITEHORN, from London

Few people in their own eyes are rich or poor: They are all ordinary.

The woman who thinks $84 is the right price for a suit considers herself just as "typical" as the woman who pay $34.

Indeed as far as I can see the only people who ever have any positive consciousness of their own wealth are those who have come by it suddenly; and it is interesting to see the precise moment at which they realized they were not hard up any longer.

One man said it was the first time he rode in a taxi without watching the clock, for another it was the first time he left his car too long on a parking meter on purpose.

* * *

One journalist said it was having two drinks to offer people instead of one take-it-or-leave-it bottle of bad sherry; another that it was not going to the hairdresser because she had no time, instead of no money.

One man said prosperity meant two clean shirts a day without thinking about it, and another said it was throwing away socks with holes in them instead of just going on wearing them.

When you ask people who are not rich what coming into money would mean to them, you get equally curious answers.

They all start out half-heartedly listing the conventional yacht, penthouse, peerage, but their eyes light up only when they get down to cases and add: "And a carpet in the bathroom!" "Wine with every meal!" "Not having to keep the string off parcels."

One man longs to be able to go abroad without notice, instead of planning for months to get his money's worth out of the fare. One woman would hardly buy a single new dress, but dreams of a proper cupboard to hang things in.

* * *

What I cannot help wondering is whether one could not perfectly well achieve at least some of these Midas symbols without getting rich at all. Some people, indeed, seem to manage it.

The man who lives in a decrepit cabin with a Cadillac at the door, or the bespectacled suburban youth who shyly confesses to a $2,000 camera. They have obviously grasped the fact that you can afford what you want amazingly often so long as you never waste a penny on what other people think you ought to want.

I know a man who, in a noble rage, went out and bought a lifetime's supply of carbon paper beacuse he was sick of economizing on the stuff, and now feels that Rockefeller has nothing on him.

There is a man, who lives near a spy of mine, who has built behind his modest dwelling a swimming pool so vast that it obliterates his entire back garden. He cannot be the only man who prefers swimming to mowing the lawn; he is just the only one who has carried the thing through.

* * *

What is wanted is a policy of highly selective extravagance. It sounds expensive to buy a new battery every winter for your car and pay a boy to wash it—but if a clean car that goes is all you want, it come out a lot cheaper than buying a new car.

I have no idea whether it is true that some of the really rich suffer from crippling fits of meanness; whether they really are as laughably convinced of their own poverty as some of them say they are; whether they are as unable to stop knowing one another as they appear.

I once asked a nice rich man why he liked a certain hag-like rich woman, and got the answer, "I don't like her—it's just that she invites us . . . we invite her . . ."

* * *

But whatever life up there is like, one can asume it has its own set of problems and stresses. What most of us really want is to pick one or two of the golden apples and get clean away.

"Come on boys," says someone in P. G. Wodehouse's memoirs, "Flo Ziegfeld is feeling rich today."

"Flo always does," someone answered gloomily, "The trouble is, it's just a feeling."

It is, after all, the feeling that counts.

Who-o-odun-n-it?

STANTON DELAPLANE

In the late afternoon the fog began to blow in. And by nightfall it lay thick on the streets, each light centred in a halo of mist.

It was a perfect night for a murder. And immediately we had one—on TV.

The scatter these days is full of squeaky females—resident and visiting. So the evening was fraught with horror, as journalists put it.

* * *

It was a British type of murder. One of those things where the dolly is scragged in the fog by a pair of gloved hands.

You do not see who is on the other end of the hands. But you see the chick's face and you know she is not looking at Rock Hudson.

The night is foggy. (Just like outside. "And heaven knows who might be lurking outside right NOW. Putting on his strangling gloves," I said. "Did you put the chain on the downstairs door?" they asked shivering.)

Now comes the questioning.

The questioner is from Scotland Yard. "Countess, can you account for your whereabouts between the hours of 1 and 2 o'clock!"

The Scotland Yard man is polite as English butter but as sharp as cheddar cheese.

"And why were you found with this murderous Malay kriss in your hand!"

"I was giving myself a manicure," says the Countess coolly. "I have been having trouble with my nails lately and all the eating of Jello doesn't seem to do a thing for them. Oh, dear, oh, dear," says the Countess.

* * *

"And you, sir," says the detective, turning to the Lord Hummingway-Humber Hawk. "Why are you carrying that service Webley containing two fired shells!"

His Lordship sputters. "Are you insinuating . . .!"

"I insinuate nothing, said the detective. "Our job is to get to the bottom of the matter. Before another tragedy occurs."

Too late. The gloves are coming out of the fog again. About size 8½ in capeskin, I think. Suitable for driving or strangling.

They have fastened themselves around the pretty neck of the pretty second maid. Eeeeek!

* * *

She is found on the library rug. Gone to her reward. A caped figure is climbing the trellis to the room where Lady Pamela is creaming her face.

Anyway, she is seen through the leaded glass windows. One of them swings open under the strangler's pressure. Pamela looks at it. Starts toward the door—she is puzzled. Then she shrugs. It is only the wind. She closes it.

My audience cries, "No! No! Don't stay in the room!"

Comes the commercial. "Will you go up first and light the light in the bathroom? Please!"

Not I. I'm not going up our creaky stairs. In all that dark.

* * *

I am glad to have a houseful of females of all ages. On a foggy, strangling night like this.

If the gloved stranger should enter, he has a nice choice. He needn't bother with me. We have little throats to strangle. Medium, Beatle-age throats for choking.

I have as nice a selection of murder material as Jack-the-Ripper could wish for. Why bother with an old model like me? I would probably just give off a couple of eeeeks.

Let me alone and I will die naturally anyway. Plucking the covers and pinching the nurses.

* * *

His Lordship has explained the fired pistol. "I was shooting a brace of plover," he explained. "Always like a brace of plover for breakfast."

The fog outside was thick as the plot. I did not stay for the ending. But when I woke in the morning, everybody was in bed—unchoked.

And every light in the house was on.

For Felicia Answer Was Lemmon

By HAROLD HEFFERNAN

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—They still talk about doing the life story of Jean Harlow on screen. Likewise, numerous scripts on Carole Lombard, Marilyn Monroe and other of Hollywood's departed greats wait in the files for just the right personality to be discovered for the impersonations.

* * *

Stella Stevens got the closest of any. This blonde look-alike was brought up from the deep South three years ago to do the Harlow story for the 20th Century-Fox. Like other such hopeful candidates, she was shunted aside when the studio decided to temporarily shelve the project.

But Stella was luckier than most of those tested and cast adrift. She went on to Paramount and has been scoring consistently ever since.

"It was nine years ago that I came out from New York to play Carole Lombard," recalls Felicia Farr, petite (5' 4") blue-eyed near-double for the immortal Carole, who was killed in a plane crash in 1939. "I'm still waiting," she twinkled.

* * *

"Close resemblance to a great star is the worst handicap any young actress can carry," she says. "That is unless you can portray that same person. I have known dozens of look-alikes here and I can't remember one that got very far."

But Felicia is still flattered by the comparisons that are constantly being drawn—even by her husband Jack Lemmon.

Up to three years ago, free-wheeling, easy-going Lemmon was the most eligible and sought-after young bachelor among the stars. He was tagged as invulnerable in the busy Hollywood matrimonial marketplaces.

Jack was on location in Paris making Irma La Douce when he encountered Felicia there and married her.

* * *

Marriage to Lemmon helped turn the key to studio plums—almost overnight. Billy Wilder, who was directing Irma La Douce, agreed wholeheartedly with bridegroom Lemmon that all Felicia needed was the right part by which to demonstrate her talents.

Then, becoming tired perhaps of waiting for some one else to make his words come true, Wilder sat down and wrote it himself—as one of the featured roles, along with those of Dean Martin, Kim Novak and Ray Walston in the recently completed Kiss Me, Stupid.

PNE Visitors Up-Periscope At Tri-Services Exhibition

A submarine-eye view of the exhibition area, through the apare periscope of HMCS Grilse, will be a highlight of the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, Aug. 22 to Sept. 7.

The 33-foot, one-ton periscope will be housed in a replica of a submarine superstructure in the armed forces display.

Other features of the tri-service presentation include an RCAF Otter aircraft, one of the Army's four-ton Ferret scout cars (now being used in Egypt and Cyprus), a 40-foot diameter, seven-foot-deep tank in which navy divers will perform, and a 15-minute electronically-controlled illuminated display of the armed forces' year-round activities at home and abroad.

MOBY DOLL SOUVENIRS

Specialty souvenirs of Moby Doll, the killer whale, will be available at the Carscraft booth in the Show Mart Building. The articles, handcrafted wall plaques, place mats and hasty notes, are made at the Crascraft Bluebird Shop, a project of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

CROSS ATLANTIC

In 1963 almost 3,000,000 persons were carried across the Atlantic by commercial airlines.

Airport Mural

Technically Superb But Drowned Out

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

The design of the mural in the new airport terminal is not enough to survive the competition of the surrounding elements of interior decoration.

The waiting room at the Patricia Bay Airport is not large, but has seating accommodation for quite a number of people, making it almost impossible to view the mural at all, as the seats snuggle up close to it. And being upholstered in yellow-green they do their best to dominate the scene.

Added to this, the violent purple of the panels of the adjacent telephone booths shrieks defiance at any pretension of harmony.

* * *

The mural is placed too low; only the upper part can be seen from any part of the waiting room.

John Ritchel is an artist of integrity and of rare creativity, but the mural medium does not lend itself to the personal idiom of his design.

When keeping to purely abstract presentation it concerns itself with a somewhat mystical but rhythmic pattern of shapes. But when conventionalized forms appear, as in the fish, the final result is disturbing.

* * *

The addition of the gold does not help matters in any way.

As a technical achievement it rises above criticism. The work is superbly done; only an expert craftsman could have worked in this medium for the first time with such imposing results.

The craft of enamelling has been handed down through the ages in combination with different metals, silver and copper being the most used.

It is a medium which requires grinding to a powder before being sprayed or painted on the metal. It is then fused by baking in a gas kiln at different intensities of heat.

To bake and assemble the different parts of the design contained on the numerous squares of copper required to complete a mural of this size is an undertaking of considerable magnitude. No alterations can be made once the baking has been done.

If more co-operation among architect, artist and interior decorator had been possible in the early stages of the building, John Ritchel's mural might have been better placed as far as color schemes are concerned.

Shamrocks Get Fourth Game McNeill, Showers Do Trick

By ROBIN JEFFREY

Two magnificent fourth-quarter goals saved Victoria Shamrocks from ending their 1963 season on a chippy note and lifted them right back into their Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff semi-final with New Westminster.

The two goals by Jim McNeill and Jack Showers gave the Shamrocks a 7-6 win over New Westminster before 1,900 fans at Memorial Arena. Victory left the best-of-five series at 2-1 for New Westminster, with the fourth game on the mainland Monday.

Fortunate to be trailing 6-5 after a Don Ashbee outburst forced them to play shorthanded for seven minutes in the third quarter, Shamrocks Jim McNeill scooped up a loose ball along the boards in the New Westminster end early in the fourth period.

SPECTACULAR

McNeill shifted once to whip past one defender, faked another with his stick, and ran over a third before flipping the ball over goalie Les Norman's right shoulder to tie the score.

And two minutes later, playing coach Ashbee, who could have emerged as the villain of the piece, grabbed a loose ball in front of the Shamrock net and broke down floor.

PERFECT PASS

Jack Showers and two New Westminster defenders were with him, but Ashbee waited until the perfect moment to fire his pass to Showers who beat Norman with a shot on the run.

Ashbee's brilliant pass somewhat redeemed him for his action earlier in the game. With about a minute left in the second quarter, Ashbee was trying to go around New Westminster's Mike Gates.

LOSES TEMPER

Gates was checking him hard but apparently fairly. Finally, in desperation, Ashbee threw a frustrated elbow and caught Gates in the face.

Referee Earl McDonald stepped in and handed Ashbee two well-deserved minutes for elbowing. But as Gates turned away Ashbee struck him knocking him to the floor. This brought another five-minutes and, with the score tied 3-3, seemed to mean the end for the Shamrocks.

HOLD FORT

But with Ed Kowalyk and Showers doing some fine work against the New Westminster power-play, Shamrocks gave up only one goal during Ashbee's absence. That was to New Westminster danger-man Paul Parnell, and it was Parnell's only goal of the night.

Don's brother Barry retrieved some more of the family honor when he tied the score with a long, unassisted run six seconds after Parnell's goal.

HAND OUT AWARDS

Shamrock goalie Skip Chapman also had a memorable night as he made three great saves in the fourth quarter and picked up trophies as the Shamrocks' rookie of the year and the player most often chosen over the season as all-star of the game.

McNeill also got two awards as the highest Shamrock scorer and the player best combining ability and sportsmanship. Barry Ashbee was named the most inspirational Shamrock.

Shamrocks' John Hansen got two goals in the first half and was the only player on either team to score more than once.

First Win for Champs

Tiger-Cats Bounce Bombers

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats won their first game of the 1964 season, edging Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 32-29, in an inter-locking Canadian Football League game here Friday night.

A crowd estimated at 19,500 weathered the rain and a stiff northwesterly breeze to see Tiger-Cats move into a tie with Toronto Argonauts for third place in the CFL's Eastern Conference standings with two points each.

The loss was Bombers' third in five starts. They have one victory and a tie and are in fourth place in the five-team Western Conference.

Don Sutherin sparked the Ti-cats, booting four field goals to tie an Eastern Conference record and connecting on two of three convert attempts for a total of 14 points.

Tommy Grant, Garney Henley and Hal Patterson scored Hamilton touchdowns, all on passplays as the Tiger-Cat quarterbacks, Bernie Faloney and Frank Cosentino exploited a Winnipeg pass defence left in wobbly condition by the loss of all-star Dick Thornton in a loss to Ottawa Tuesday.

Leo Lewis, Billy Cooper, Jack Delveaux and Ernie Pitts counted Winnipeg touchdowns, while George Fleming converted all four and scored a single on a wide field goal attempt.

PASSING GAME

Both clubs ignored the soggy going to pass frequently, the Bombers throwing 25 times and the Ticats 20. But Bomber air yardage was short with only 98 yards from 12 completions while Hamilton netted 186 yards from 11 catches.

Kenny Ploen, however, got a lot of territory with the pass threat, netting 93 yards as he kept 10 times for almost half the Winnipeg overland gain.

ERRATIC

Ticats played erratically, tackling vigorously but often playing sloppy football.

They took a 6-0 first-quarter lead on Sutherin's first two field goals. Patterson scored on an eight-yard pass play and Henley on a 50-yarder in the second quarter to lead by 19-1 at one time.

However, Delveaux smashed over near the end of the quarter and Cooper got his touchdown on a nine-yard reverse in the 11th minute of the third quarter. Fleming's converts brought it to 15-19.

But Grant was back with his touchdown on an 18-yard pass play before the quarter was over and Sutherin's last two field goals were enough to take care of Bombers' two fourth-quarter touchdown drives, the last one ending with less than a minute to play.

Fatal Hurts In Eastern Fight Rings

TOKYO (AP)—Two Oriental professional fighters have died of ring injuries, raising to 10 the number of boxing fatalities during the year.

A Japanese featherweight, Takashi Basegawa, 22, succumbed Thursday to injuries suffered when he was knocked out in a fight here last Sunday night. He had been in a coma 82 hours.

The other victim was Kamolsing Singchaophya, who complained of feeling sleepy after losing a six-round decision in a fight at Nakorn Sawan, Thailand. Less than 24 hours later he was dead.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

When revolution was brewing in the American League over the Yankees' sellout to television, Joe Cronin, leader of the tong, was on vacation on Cape Cod. En route home to Boston he stopped in Baltimore.

To anybody versed in baseball lore, it seems entirely reasonable that an executive travelling from Cape Cod to Boston would stop in Baltimore to break the jump. However, Joe had another reason for visiting that teeming suburb of Ft. McHenry. He was there to receive from Mrs. Makee Key-Smith Kane, a granddaughter of Francis Scott Key, a gold medal testifying that one hundred years had passed since Grandpa wrote the lyrics for "The Star Spangled Banner."

Receiving a Star Spangled Banner Centennial Medal is a signal honor, and it cannot escape attention that no such distinction was conferred upon Warren Giles, president of the National League.

It is understood that the Centennial committee wished to bestow a medal upon Mr. Giles, but he flunked the test. He knew all there was to know about the land of the free, but hadn't a clue about the home of the Braves.

Johnny McHale, the Braves' president, was encountered in the Milwaukee airport the other day. He said he was on his way to Toronto to look at the farmhands there. "Hell," a guy said, "I figured you were going to Atlanta." John smiled weakly and departed.

Bargain Basement

The feeling here is that the fans are interested in Mickey Mantle rather than Del Webb, in Ernie Banks rather than Phil Wrigley, in Harmon Killebrew rather than Calvin Griffith. They don't care about an owner's profits or losses; they care about Sandy Koufax's strikeout record.

However, a deal such as the Yankees have made with Columbia Broadcasting System calls attention to the financial aspects of the game. Nobody has laid out all the figures yet, so:

In 1945, Del Webb, Dan Topping and Larry MacPhail bought the Yankee empire for $2.8 million. Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the club, had died and his heirs were under pressure from the tax people. That's why they took a giveaway price for:

A team with guys like Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller, Tom Henrich, Bill Dickey, Red Ruffing, etc.; all unused rolls of adhesive; Yankee Stadium and the great swatch of Bronx real estate it stands upon; the Newark ballclub, its stadium and real estate; the Kansas City ballclub, its stadium and land; all other minor league holdings of the organization.

Nothing But Money

What the three buyers laid out in cash has never been disclosed. One reliable report says Webb and Topping put up $400,000 each and MacPhail $200,000. That isn't necessarily accurate and it isn't important. The price was $2.8 million. Two years later, Webb and Topping bought out MacPhail for $2 million.

It doesn't matter that they had made enough in those two years to pay off MacPhail out of profits. Settle for the figure of $4.8 million as the price Topping and Webb paid for the club —$2.8 million to the Ruppert estate and $2 million to MacPhail.

During the next 13 years while George Weiss ran the organization the Yankees won 10 pennants and seven World Series. Their net operating profit ran upward of $1.5 million a year before taxes—something over $20 million for that period.

During this time Topping, as president, and Webb, vice-president, took salaries which have not been disclosed. Call 'em $75,000 a year.

Also during this time, they made a real estate deal. They sold the ground on which the Stadium stands to the Knights of Columbus. They sold the Stadium itself to Arnold Johnson, who had to dispose of it when he bought the Philadelphia Athletics and moved them to Kansas City. Today, Rice Institute owns the ballpark.

Reliable figures on the real estate deal were never made public. A price of $6.2 million has been published. It seems low.

Simple Addition

All right. Take a purchase price of $4.8 million. Take an operating profit before taxes of $24 million. (That's counting the years before Weiss and the years after.) Take salaries of $75,000 a year. Add $6.2 million in proceeds from the real estate.

Now CBS is paying $11.2 million for an 80 per cent interest, with the option of buying the whole works for $14 million.

Add $14 million and $6 million and $20-odd million and subtract $4.8 million, and you have a rough idea of what it is like to own the best ballclub in the world. Let us have one minute of silence for Dan Topping and Del Webb.

Venturi, Collins Tied

Ken Venturi, continuing the comeback surge which began with a victory in the U.S. Open, shot a four-under-par 66 at Akron, O., yesterday to share the lead after 36 holes of the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

A pair of 33s gave Venturi a 137, the same as Bill Collins, who tacked a 67 on his opening-round 70.

Mason Rudolph was one stroke back at 138 after a second-round 68 and Tony Lema slipped to a 71 after an opening 69 to stand alone in fourth place with 140.

Arnold Palmer, who opened with a 68 on Thursday, had some trouble on the greens and soared to a 73 for 141 and was tied with Bob McAllister. Next came Jay Hebert at 142 and Charlie Sifford, Burt Yancey and Ramon Sota at 143.

Red Soccer Notes Green (Back) Trend

VIENNA (UPI) — Soccer, the national sport of communist Czechoslovakia, is suffering from too much capitalism, the Czech youth newspaper Smena complained Friday.

It said the main violators are the star players who "auction" themselves off to rival clubs, then cut in their old team management for a share of the profits. One of the leading clubs, Nitra, was singled out in particular.

"Everybody, from barber to shoeshiner knows, for instance, that the Nitra team has sold some of its best players because they were more interested in money than in successful sport," the paper said. "Nor is Nitra alone."

It said soccer league officials are "deaf and dumb" to the abuses, which also include favoritism to star players in getting apartments and skipping practice.

Such practices, it said, are "gross violations" of a 1963 law that granted special consideration to sports personnel in work, living quarters and pay.

The newspaper demanded a government investigation and action against violators.

Mets in Late Start But They're Moving

Baltimore Orioles regained first place in the American League. New York Yankees went down to a fifth straight defeat and Philadelphia Phillies protected their large National League lead yesterday.

So what? New York Mets finally are looking like a baseball team.

Perfectly unaware, or uncaring, that their "magic number" for pennant elimination is now six, the Mets are making a late run and already some of their fans are chanting that familiar refrain, "Wait until next year."

It's not just that the Mets, said to have a somnabulist for a manager, have now won five in a row. They've used five different pitchers, and only five, in their splurge. It's the first time it's happened in the major leagues this season.

Yesterday Jack Fisher blanked Chicago Cubs, 7-0. On Wednesday, Tracy Stallard beat Pittsburgh, 4-2; on Tuesday, Al Jackson beat Pittsburgh, 7-3; on Monday, rookie Dennis Ribant beat Pittsburgh, 5-0, and on Sunday, it was Galen Cisco beating the Phils, 12-4.

GAINING

The Phils have lost since so the Mets have gained two games. They're now only 35½ behind.

Not counting New York, yesterday's big game was at Chicago, where the Orioles tipped the White Sox, 4-2, to get back the lead they lost Thursday.

Brooks Robinson and rookie Sam Bowens took up the slack left by the injury to Boog Powell. Each hit a home run in the fourth inning. Then with the score tied at 2-2 starting the ninth, each singled home a run.

Harvey Haddix, replacing Milt Pappas in the eighth inning and retiring each of the five hitters he faced, received credit for the win.

The Yankees, now five games off the pace, were stopped cold by Bob Heffner and took a 7-0 whitewash job from Boston Red Sox. Six Boston runs came on homers — a grandslammer by Bob Tillman and solo shots by Dick Stuart and Eddie Bressoud.

Continuing their combination of good pitching and heads-up play, the Phillies held their margin by blanking Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, behind the pitching of Chris Short, now a 13-game winner.

Tony Taylor singled home Alex Johnson with the only run Short was to need in the second inning.

Cincinnati Reds, playing fine baseball and perhaps the most dangerous threat to the Phillies, kept pace by taking Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-2, as rookie Bill McCool pitched six scoreless relief innings.

San Francisco Giants lost their sixth in a row when St. Louis Cardinals scored three runs in the ninth inning to snatch a 6-5 decision.

Defeat left the Giants eight and a half games out and in danger of falling to fourth place.

Cronin Under Fire For Investigation

CHICAGO (UPI) — Investigators for the U.S. Department of Justice quizzed owner Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics for two hours Friday seeking information about the projected sale of the New York Yankees to Columbia Broadcasting System.

Arthur C. Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, disclosed at the same time that he had been questioned by Department of Justice representatives earlier.

Both Finley and Allyn protested the fact that they were subjected to a federal interview to American League president Joe Cronin.

"I called Cronin on the phone," Allyn said, "and told him I didn't like to have to account to the Department of Justice, and that we'd better do something to change the stupid image we're developing."

STRONG WORDS

Finley said his telegram "protested vigorously the fact that it now becomes necessary to be interviewed by the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice."

"Had this been handled in the manner that the president of the American League should have handled it, it would not have occurred. Your recent action in the sale of the Yankees is another concrete example of your not being qualified to represent the American League as president."

Finley said he didn't like "to see my investment jeopardized through his shenanigans."

Philadelphia Set to Build New Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city council has unanimously agreed to build a new sports stadium in south Philadelphia and to submit a $25,000,000 bond issue to the voters in the Nov. 3 election.

Council President Paul d'Ortona said agreement was reached on a self-supporting, 60,000-seat stadium built and operated by the city, that would be used by both the Phillies baseball team and the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Construction could start next spring and the stadium could be ready for the 1967 baseball season.

Clemson Co-ed Ratio Sped Rookie to Lions

By WAYNE OVERLAND

VANCOUVER (UPI) — A 20-year-old boy who knows how to play a man's game has British Columbia Lions fans touting rookie fullback Bob Swift as a prime candidate for Canadian football rookie-of-the-year honors.

Since stumbling into the regular fullback spot left vacant through retirement of Nub Beamer, Swift has been averaging about five yards per carry and plunging over for touchdowns.

HOT HAPPY

A year ago the agile 224-pounder was an unhappy sophomore playing second string for Clemson University in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference.

The story behind this transformation from college bench-warmer to first-string pro involves some cloak and dagger scouting, an omission from the Montreal Alouette negotiation list, a sudden retirement from the Lions, and a mathematical permutation Swift didn't like.

According to the best laid plans of the Alouettes, Swift was to spend this season and next at Clemson.

ALS GOOFED

The Als had carefully scouted Swift, a Canadian citizen, who is also fully bilingual. However, they thought he was well hidden at Clemson playing behind All-American Pat Crane, and they neglected to put him on their negotiation list.

Lions' assistant-coach Jim champion discovered the Montreal-born giant while snooping about the southern States last year. When he also found Montreal had failed to protect Swift, he promptly put the prospect on the Leos' negotiation list.

Swift was souring on Clemson and the defending western Canadian champions were about to lose all-star Beamer through retirement.

TOUGH COMPETITION

The mathematical permutation Swift didn't like was the 4,800 boys to 68 girls ratio at Clemson.

"We had to drive 70 miles to get a date," he said.

Nor did he fancy playing behind Crane when his own average of 3.9 yards per carry was better than the all-American's.

"Many times I felt I could do a better job," said Swift.

The third strike against Clemson came when Swift found out he would have to attend summer school to remain eligible for football.

About this time Beamer suddenly retired and the Lions began calling all fullbacks. Swift signed just days before training camp opened. The Lions hoped he would provide insurance for linebacker Don Vicic—heir apparent to Beamer's fullback job.

MOVED UP QUICKLY

After the Lions opend the schedule with a 10-10 tie against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the B.C. coaching staff decided Vicic should revert to linebacking and they named Swift No. 1 fullback.

The Lions coaching staff is jubilant at the progress Swift is making. Coach Dave Skrien said Swift has been "thrown in there awfully fast and he's learning under game conditions. "He's doing a tremendous job for us and improving every time out."

Swift said the biggest change from the college ranks is the hitting—"It's much harder, and the veterans tell me they don't even start to hit until the ground freezes on the prairies," he said.

But there is little doubt among Lion veterans that Swift will be able to absorb the hard knock. Quarterback Joe Kapp said after the rookie's first game: "The kid's got guts — that's what counts."

Wrestling in Concert-Halls Still Brings Out the Beast

By JOE MacSWEEN

CROYDON, England (CP) — "If you want to see the English ladies and gentlemen with their hair down," said Jim, "come with me to the concert hall."

The concert hall? But then it developed that wrestlers—not musicians—make music in this Kentish town's impressive concert hall on Tuesday nights.

ARTY START

So Jim Rutherford led the way to well-upholstered ringside seats as George Lawson-Peeke, master of ceremonies, announced the five-fight program in cultured tones.

The fans — as respectable-looking a group as you could find anywhere—trooped to their places, the men complete with neckties and the women smartly dressed. There was little of the raucous atmosphere encountered on these occasions in Canada. But wait.

EARLY PATTERN

Th shape of things to come emerged when female fans in our vicinity yelled lustily for Joe Keegan, a Lancashire lad, in his welterweight bout against Ezzard Hart, a West Indian.

"I'm for you Ezzard," shouted Jim, an Irishman, and a certain air of frozen hostility congealed around us.

This wasn't eased when long-nosed Pasquale Salvo sent Lindy Caulder, beloved of the women, floating up among the crystal chandeliers.

"Break his nose," the women screamed.

"Be fair to the Italian," yelled Jim.

"Oh close up," they volleyed back.

Blood thirst was rampant when Winnipeg's 240-pound George Gordienko, 34, battled Geoff Portz, British heavyweight champ, to a draw.

The men fought without gimmicks in the freestyle system—a striking test of skill and strength—and the crowd, demanding more spectacular action, received a reprimand from Lawson-Peeke.

But it was the so-called Mr. T.V. Pallo, long hair beautifully styled, who reduced the crowd to frenzy in his bout against Alan Colbeck, European welter champ. The showman Pallo arrived in a glamorous dressing gown and soon inspired hatred in everybody but Jim.

After ever-more outrageous assaults on the virtuous Colbeck, Pallo climbed monkey-like onto the ropes, grimacing at the crowd. He offered to see one critical ringsider's wife home—"then she'll leave you for good."

"Good old Pallo," shouted Jim.

"Kill that dirty, dirty fouler," shrilled one young lady, making for Pallo with a stiletto-heeled shoe in hand.

DIGNITY VANISHES

Dignity vanished in a final, burlesqued bout. Litter rained on the ring. Amid rage and laughter, fans chased away a fat bad-man wrestler. An unspeakable cad, he was.

Late leavers from neighboring pubs seemed mildly surprised and envious at the hilarity outside the concert hall.

Weslock Vs. Cowan in Final

By HARRY YOUNG
(Colonist Staff Writer)

SASKATOON—Ontario's Nick Weslock and Gary Cowan Friday confirmed themselves as Canada's two best amateur golfers when they fought their way through two hard rounds to the final of the Canadian championship at Riverside Golf Club.

As a result of their fine performances they would appear to have assured themselves of places on the Canadian team which will play for the World Cup in Rome next October.

Weslock, the defending champion, first beat Johnny Johnston of Vancouver, 2 and 1, in the quarter-finals, then overcame the consistent Keith Alexander of Calgary by the same score. Weslock is seeking his fourth win.

However, the odds appear to favor the more-youthful Cowan, the 1961 champion. Cowan played sub-par golf through the day to eliminate two long-hitting Albertans, Edmonton's John Kilburn by 6 and 5 and Calgary's Doug Silverberg by 6 and 4.

PUTTING TOUCH

Cowan appears to have found his putting touch at the crucial moment. He won the first two holes against Kilburn and eased in, always in control as the Edmontonian had trouble with his short game.

Against Silverberg, who had also been playing fine golf, Cowan was even more impressive and was four under par when the match ended.

THREE IN ROW

It needed that kind of golf. Silverberg had eight par holes and one birdie on the first nine holes but was two down at the turn because Cowan fired successive birdies on the sixth, seventh and eighth holes after losing the second to Silverberg's birdie.

Big hitting brought Cowan from behind. He reached the green with two shots on the 510-yard sixth hole and got his birdie with two putts. After knocking in an 11-footer on the seventh for another birdie, he put his second on the green on the 519-yard eighth hole, got his first putt within two feet for the third birdie.

He couldn't be touched as he ran it out on the 14th green by sinking a 30-foot putt.

USUAL STYLE

Weslock was not as impressive but, as almost always, he managed to get there although not sinking a putt of more than eight feet.

He was three up on former-champion Johnston at the turn but had to charge back for his win after Johnston had cut the lead to one hole.

Alexander, who was spraying his shots somewhat, took the lead on the second hole when Weslock hit a trap but lost his edge by hitting the rough on the third. Weslock made the turn one up when Alexander three-putted from 50 feet on the fourth.

One over after beating Johnston, Weslock was two over par when his match against Alexander was over. It was a change of form for Alexander, who was three under par in his quarter-final match against John Sirman of Fresno, the only U.S. entrant to reach the quarter-finals. Alexander got away with a 35-foot birdie putt on the second hole and won, 5 and 3.

Silverberg was held even for eight holes by Ron Folk of Saskatoon. But Folk had a two-foot putt rim the cup on the ninth, strayed from the fairway to go two down on the 10th and went three down to Silverberg's birdie on the 14th. Final score was 3 and 2.

Roger in Final Of Open Tourney

OTTAWA — Victoria's Roger Skillings reached the final of the 14-and-under singles at the Canadian Open junior tennis championships here yesterday by beating Rick Herman of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 6-3.

Skillings and Vancouver's Bob Puddicombe are the only Canadians to reach the finals in singles competition.

TOUGH OPPONENT

Skillings meets George Taylor of Houston, Tex., in the final today. Taylor beat Alex Mayer of Woodmere, N.Y., 6-0, 6-0, to reach the 14-and-under final and then trounced Michel Leblanc of Montreal to qualify for the 16-and-under final as well.

Puddicombe won his 18-and-under semi-final, 5-7, 11-9, 6-4, in a two-and-a-half-hour marathon with Mexico's Luis Garcia. The Canadian meets top-seeded Armistead Neely of Tampa, Fla., in today's final.

Not So Gorgeous But It's George

CHICAGO (UPI) — It had to happen.

George Ringo, born in Liverpool (New York, not England), let his black hair grow long, then got a clip, and now he's taking to the road as "The Wrestling Beatle."

His "advisor," Bob Luce, said he would appear "three days ahead or three days behind" the musical Beatles from England on United States tour.

His manager might be Jayne Mansfield, who claims credit for discovering him as a guitar-playing singer, and an ex-wrestler, appearing in a California night club. At least Luce said she was committed to ride with him in a "one-car parade" prior to his first wrestling engagement in Los Angeles on Monday.

But a guitar-playing singer who can wrestle ought to be able to wrestle.

"He's not great," Luce said, "but neither was George Wagner, and he made a fortune as Gorgeous George."

Alouette No Longer Dirge As Rejuvenated Club Hums

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Alouette, a sprightly folk song deadened to a dirge by despairing Montreal football fans the last several seasons, has become once more a sprightly tune on the lips of sporting folkniks in Montreal.

The song of Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference carries overtones of a victory chant since the team that almost everybody picked to finish near the bottom opened the season like champions. The real champions, Hamilton Tiger-Cats, were the first victims of the Alouettes, succumbing 33-5 in the season opener.

TRYING TO ADJUST

The experts who assigned Montreal to the EFC cellar in pre-season predictions are still trying to adjust to the reality that Alouettes are winning football games and looking good while they're at it.

The winter manpower changes made in Montreal seemed to be minimal compared with the usual frantic recruitment programs of a perennial loser. The tried stars like galloping George Dixon remained, but newcomers were uninspiring on paper.

COLE A SURPRISE

It was hard to see, for example, why Montreal negotiated the trade with Winnipeg which brought Alouettes Vernon Cole, a rusty rookie quarterback. Cole had been an understudy with the Bombers in 1960 and had played no serious football in three subsequent years with the U.S. Air Force.

But in Montreal's first three games, Cole displayed poise and skill in manoeuvring for the defeat of Hamilton and toppling Toronto Argonauts 21-13.

A trade with Toronto which sent Don Paquette to Argos brought Montreal Jerry Philp, who scored a touchdown against his old club, and an unexpected bonus in Chuck Wood, who has played standout ball on the Montreal defensive line.

The clue to the early success of Montreal, however, lies less in the manner in which unspectacular trades have paid off than in the display of drive and toughness by an inspired defence and opportunistic offence.

Insiders agree that the invigoration of Montreal Alouettes is due primarily to the rebuilding job of coach Jim Trimble, hired from Hamilton for 1963.

IN OWN IMAGE

Jungle Jim quietly proceeded to discard Alouettes he felt swinging the lead under the protection of fat contracts. In training camp, he drove his players hard and came up with a tough crew resolved to win.

'Charge Is Serious'

EDMONTON (UPI) — Thomas O'Dwyer, an Edmonton businessman who says his only interest is to "get better government," said Friday Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke has been accused of "a serious charge of misconduct."

O'Dwyer, 48, an unsuccessful Liberal candidate in the last provincial election, said Hooke attended a controversial meeting in a private home July 30.

"Mr. Hooke was, in my judgment, confronted there with a serious charge of misconduct," he said.

CAUSED UPROAR

The meeting caused an uproar when Premier Ernest Manning condemned it and the "reprehensible tactics" of an anti-government group which set it up.

"This I refute," O'Dwyer said Friday. "I did not use, in my judgment, any reprehensible tactics or any devious tactics and his (Manning's) statement is a gross inaccuracy of what actually transpired."

'ENTICED' TO HOME

"It's embarrassing to get the number of phone calls I do from people asking me what I know about it all," he said.

Premier Manning, in his statement, said the group "enticed" a cabinet member to a home and "pressured him to divulge any information he might have that would be damaging to his colleagues and the government."

Eight Islanders Win Silver Medals

The silver medal of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, which signifies top mark in the province for each of a variety of classes, has been awarded to eight boys and girls from Vancouver Island.

Winning the 1964 silver medal for B.C. for Grade V piano were two pupils of Miss Noel A. M. Smith, 2763 Cadboro Bay Road.

Tied with the top marks in this class were Valerie Forbes, 2134 Neil, and Alan Denike, 3610 Kathleen. In addition Miss Forbes won the $25 Frederick Harris scholarship for her grade.

The Grade IV silver medal was won by Lorna Baker, 911 Falaise Crescent, student of Mrs. J. Graham Smith. Her mark tied with Angela Cavadas of Vancouver, but Miss Baker won the Frederick Harris scholarship of $30 for the grade.

A Port Alberni winner was Janet Walter, pupil of Mrs. Laurie Westwood, who won the silver medal for Grade II singing.

The silver medal for Grade IV singing was won by Madeleine Groos, 1003 Newport Avenue, pupil of Miss Gladys Pearcy, as is also the Grade I winner, Hilary Scott, 25 Howe.

Two sisters tied for the top mark in Grade II speech arts: Melanie and Stephanie Perkins, 1940 Woodley Road. Another girl in North Burnaby, Thomasine Rowell, also shared top mark and won a silver medal.

Another Dead End In Bus Fare Talks

Meetings held with Einar Gunderson, B.C. Hydro financial officer, in an attempt to arrive at a compromise on the bus fare increase, were "not fruitful," Mayor R. B. Wilson said Friday with a strong dose of understatement.

It brought smiles to city aldermen who have followed the involved negotiations which have taken place between the municipalities involved, B.C. Hydro and the Public Utilities Commission.

Attempt to reach the provincial cabinet had been equally unrewarding, said Mayor Wilson.

"They apparently won't meet with us while this matter is before the PUC," he said.

Faced with this impasse the municipalities felt there was little else to do than order a professional survey with emphasis on the whole hydro operation and the bus fare structure.

The firm of Simpson and Curtain will carry it out and the cost will be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

ALBERNI—John C. Williamson was elected by acclamation Tuesday to fill an aldermanic vacancy on city council until the end of 1965. He will fill the unexpired term of former Ald. George Dunbar who resigned to live in Vancouver.

Four Slain Americans Staged 'Hell of a Fight'

SAIGON (UPI)—An American general said Friday night four U.S. soldiers killed in a massive Communist ambush Thursday night "put up a hell of a fight" before falling in the powerful assault that also left at least 120 Vietnamese troops dead.

The government losses were believed to be the largst in a single engagement of the war.

SEIZED MACHINEGUN

Maj. Gen. Richard Stilwell, chief of staff of the U.S. military establishment here, said one of the slain Americans—a captain—fired his M-1 rifle until he ran out of ammunition, then hurled all his grenades. Finally, he said, the officer seized a machinegun from a fallen Vietnamese soldier and raked the attacking Communists.

A U.S. military spokesman said that government forces suffered one of their heaviest military setbacks in the marshland ambush southwest of Saigon in which the Viet Cong guerrillas wiped out a battalion-sized force.

The Americans killed in the action included three officers and one enlisted man. A fifth American was killed Thursday in a separate action in the jungled mountains of central Viet Nam. The new casualties raised to 274 the number of Americans to die in South Viet Nam since the beginning of 1961—187 of them in combat.

The heavy government setback came as thousands of Vietnamese students demonstrated in the streets of Saigon and Hue denouncing the leadership of President Nguyen Khanh amid signs of stiffening Buddhist resistance to his one-man rule.

Gen. Stilwell said he expected the four American military men killed in the ambush would be recommended for military awards for their valorous conduct.

VISITS BATTLEFIELD

Stilwell, who formerly headed the over-all planning of the military effort here, visited the battlefield Friday.

He said three of the Americans clearly died from small arms fire. It could not be determined immediately how the fourth man died.

ALL HEADLESS

A well-informed sources said one of the Americans had been bayoneted several times. A U.S. spokesman, however, did report the bodies of the four had been found headless and mutilated.

Stilwell said that in addition to some 120 government troops killed in the action, 60 were wounded. He said government weapon losses were expected to be substantial.

Crews Working On New Sewer

Esquimalt public works crews are currently working on a new $30,000 sewer in the Skinners Flats area.

The 15-inch diameter concrete sewer which may be completed fully next summer will be paid for out of general revenue.

ABOUT 600 HOMES

It will serve about 600 homes in an 86-acre area.

Work began in July and will probably continue another couple of months. Then work will break off to be resumed next summer.

NOTHING WRONG

"There's nothing wrong with the existing sewer which serves the area at the moment," said a public works official.

"But we are looking ahead and providing for future growth of the municipality. This sewer will take over a large number of homes from the existing system."

Swami's Tiny Island of Faith Defies Flooded River's Anger

By BUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP) — "The only thing I fear is the anger of God," said Swami Punya Prabhu, a 76-year-old Hindu monk, as the flood waters of India's Jamuna River swirled around him.

For the last 21 years Prabhu has made his home on a 20- by 15-foot island in the middle of the river 25 miles from New Delhi.

"I have survived a dozen major and innumerable minor floods," the monk said, refusing once more offers to evacuate him to safety.

WOODEN PLATFORM

One night recently the swami's bamboo hut was in danger of being swept away. Chanting hymns from the sacred scriptures, Prabhu took his place on a seven-foot-high wooden platform which he has erected as a refuge.

From either side of the Jamuna's banks, about 100 feet away, small groups of the swami's followers implored him to come away. He shouted back: "Go away, go away. No harm will come to me. God is with me."

When there are no floods, a tiny boat puts out twice a day to bring the monk his frugal meals of boiled rice, sliced tomato and buttermilk. But for 76 hours recently he had to go without food because of rough waters.

LOST WIFE, SON

The swami, a former high school teacher, is a scholar in his native Hindi and speaks fluent English. Grief over the death of his wife and their only son in the 1912 Japanese bombing of Rangoon, Burma, made him turn to religion.

Once a fortnight Swami Punya Prabhu goes ashore. He visits nearby hamlets and villagers gather around him for his blessings. His disciples include many Indian government employees.

Money is being collected to give the monk a modest dwelling. A three-room house is being planned.

Everything is going well except that the swami insists that the house be built right in the middle of the river.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

The tension between psychologist and clergy continually recurs. Sad it is that these two professions, to the disillusion of the public, are not able to pass one of the first tests of a gentleman—the ability to disagree without being disagreeable.

Certainly they should both put friendship into practice if they are going to establish a United Nations of the soul or establish that world government of the psyche which is a reflection of the unity of the universe.

The fact that clergy are required to take a four-year arts course which includes studies in psychology and sociology, with an added three years of intensive training, while many of us take seminars and post-graduate studies in counselling and psychology, gives clergy an awareness of basic psychology.

Vast Shifts

Psychology was founded as a separate science only in 1879 by the German leader of the "structural" school, Wilhelm Wundt. Since then there have been vast shifts through the psychoanalyst school of Freud and Jung in the early part of the century, the behaviorist school led by men like Watson and Pavlov, the gestalt school including men like Wertheimer and Kohler, the social school of Fromm, down to the physiologists like Hebb (who can write a text without mentioning Freud!), and a variety of others, while many would resent a suggestion of being attached to any school.

Distinctive Tasks

Fortunately, great men like Fromm, Jung, and Menninger, with a host of others have done much to draw together these two profession who have in common the survey of human life in all its aspects. Yet both have distinctive tasks. The clergyman must be competent as a counsellor in a variety of fields, but he must know not only what help he can give but what help he cannot give, and be able to distinguish between sickness and sin.

We suffer from shallowness. Few explore the deeper reaches and power of prayer or understand the wider horizon and need of hope. But no preacher is more eloquent on the curative power of love than the fine psychologist Will Menninger.

Rooted Sorrow

What doctor could answer the poignant cry of Macbeth: "Canst thou not minister to a mind diseased, pluck from the memory a rooted sorrow, raze out the written troubles of the brain, and with some sweet oblivious antidote cleanse the stuffed bosom of that perilous stuff which weighs upon the heart?"

Only God Himself! Long ago the writer of proverbs said, "A merry heart doeth good like medicine while a broken spirit drieth up the bones."

Fare Increase Concerns Party

Among the groups concerned about the possible B.C. Hydro bus fare boost is the Victoria branch of the Communist Party.

In a letter to city council, signed by the secretary, Ernest L. Knott, the party branch said a whole new study of the transit situation was needed. Even if the fare increase was granted, it said, the problem would remain.

Student Total Up Considerably

OTTAWA (CP) — More than 4,790,000 Canadians were attending elementary or secondary school during the school year just ended and another 158,000 were enrolled full-time at university or college. The bureau of statistics says this represents an increase from the preceding year of more than four per cent at the elementary and secondary school level and about 12 per cent at the university level.

Edward Horsey

Rail, Power Engineer Dies at 81

* * *

Horsey

Edward N. (Ted) Horsey, 81, died Friday at his residence, 1750 Esquimalt, West Vancouver, following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Horsey was a resident of Victoria from 1910 until 1961 when he and Mrs. Horsey moved to the Lower Mainland.

He retired in 1948 as operations manager of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. after 37 years with the company.

CIVIL ENGINEER

A graduate of Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., he received his degree in civil engineering at Queen's University in 1906 and came to Prince Rupert two years later with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

He first came to Victoria in connection with the Canadian Northern Railway development, ultimately taken over by the CNR.

UNDER HUGHES

A year after his arrival he joined the B.C. Electric Railway as assistant engineer under Garnett Hughes, who later as major-general commanded one of the Canadian divisions in the First World War.

He became resident engineer in 1913, manager of light and power in 1938, general superintendent in 1943 and operations manager in 1946.

LIFE MEMBER

An active golfer, he was a member of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. and the Northwest Light and Power Association.

A past master of St. Andrew's Lodge, he was also a member of the Union Club and the Victoria Rotary Club.

PROJECT ENGINEER

After his retirement from the B.C. Electric he was retained by the company as project engineer for several years.

During this time he was active in the design and construction of interconnections between the old B.C. Power Commission and the B.C. Electric.

ISLAND CABLE

He worked on the high-voltage Wahleach transmission line in the Fraser Valley and the overhead sections of the cable system to Vancouver Island.

The Horsey sub-station on Topaz Avenue, opened in 1959, was named for him.

Mr. Horsey is survived by his widow, Flora; a brother, Fred, of 1561 Despard, Victoria; a son, Rowland M. Horsey, and a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Adams, both of Vancouver; and six grandchildren.

Ten Nations

Satellites Boost Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of 10 countries and the Vatican signed an agreement Thursday to launch a globe-circling communications system using space satellites. The signers included Canada.

President Johnson, in a message read at the ceremony, called it "cause for gratification among men everywhere," and another boost for the cause of peace.

The $200,000,000 project is slated to get into world-wide operation in about three years. The first satellite, to carry communications traffic between North America and Europe, is to be launched early next year.

The satellites will add to the commercial channels now available through undersea cables and short wave radio.

Clothing Stolen By Hook, Crook

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thieves hooked $284 worth of clothing through a two-feet-by-10-inch letter box of a clothing store. Included in the loot were 12 Beatle sweaters.

Purchases Halted

Cuba Suspends Credit Abroad

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cuba has suspended purchases abroad and all letters of credit, including those for purchases already made, it was learned Friday from financial sources.

The sources said the orders were issued in Havana last week and addressed to Cuban foreign trade representatives overseas.

The stop-buy edict also ordered an end to all negotiations.

Exempted from the order were parts and supplies needed for the sugar and nickel industries and material for a medical research centre under construction.

The drastic cutback was interpreted to mean that Cuba has spent more than it has taken in and now must retrench.

The latest development confirmed recent national foreign trade council speculation based on reports from the Financial Times of London and the New York Journal of Commerce that near-chaos in its finances could force Cuba to suspend credit for foreign purchases.

It also clarified hitherto unexplained recent shifts in top economic posts which resulted in the ouster of Regino Boti from the economy ministry, Marcelo Fernandez as president of the Cuban National Bank and Maj. Alberto Mora as minister of foreign commerce, and the unprecedented establishment of a ministry for sugar affairs.

Parks Group Picks City For '66 Meet

Victoria will be host city to the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada for the first time when that organization holds its 21st annual meeting in 1966.

The city's lone delegate to this year's meeting in Saskatoon, parks administrator W. H. Warren said Friday the association has accepted the invitation of Mayor R. B. Wilson to meet here.

Recital Features Bass-Baritone

Bass-baritone Derek MacDermot will be the featured artist at the noon-day organ recital at Christ Church Cathedral today.

Cathedral organist Richard Proudman will be at the console and the program includes several arias from the great cantatas, and the fine "state trumpet" of the organ will be heard. The recital starts at 12:15 p.m.

Mr. MacDermot will sing arias from Judas Maccabaeus and Samson (Handel) as well as from Haydn's Seasons and the famous Elijah of Mendelssohn.

Mr. Proudman's selections include a Toccata-Posthude which is his own composition, J. S. Bach's St. Anne Fugue and a maestoso from Louis Vierne.

Quick Aye Raises Civic Pay

City council put through a pay raise for itself Friday—in about 16 seconds.

There were no dissenting votes nor was there any comment on the motion proposed by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and seconded by Ald. Millard Mooney—just a chorus of ayes.

* * *

The motion raises the mayor's salary from $6,000 a year to $7,500 and aldermen's salaries from $2,000 to $2,500.

Last increase was made four years ago.

Victoria has now reached the legal limit, under the Municipal Act, for its size.

* * *

The boost, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1965, will cost the taxpayers an additional $5,500 a year.

Vancouver city council voted Tuesday in favor of a 33 per cent boost. The mayor is to get $16,000 and aldermen $4,800.

Edgelow Warns:

Local Level May Vanish

By A. H. MURPHY

The public had better keep a sharp eye on such things as mini-metro or it will wake up some morning and find that the day of municipal government is gone.

This, in the opinion of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, could easily come about by exclusion of the public from such meetings as that held by the provincial government on Thursday to launch the municipal affairs department plan.

"How," asked Ald. A. W. Toone, "is the public going to be able to judge the worth of such a scheme when such meetings are held in-camera?"

"We have been instructed to keep councils and others affected informed," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, who was Victoria's delegate at the Thursday meeting.

"We were told that it was the minister's wish that we report fully and without reservation."

Ald. Edgelow wanted to know if the voters in the areas affected by mini-metro were going to be allowed to vote on the final plan or was it to be put into effect by the provincial government without a vote.

"So far as I know," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "it's a provincial plan and I know of no intention to put the matter to a vote."

Ald. Edgelow didn't care much for the idea of having legislation, to be formulated at such meetings, go to the legislature without a vote of the people.

Wake Up Too Late

"It seems to me," he said, "that we could wake up some morning and find it was all over—that it was too late."

Reporting on the meeting, Mayor Wilson said that the overall purpose was to identify areas where regional action would be fruitful.

Regional planning was desired by everybody, the mayor said, and public health, it was felt, was an area where joint board action would be good.

Victoria felt that the cost of hospitals was not a legitimate municipal responsibility and suggested that any legislation in this respect be "permissive."

Waste and sewage disposal, air pollution and parks were all fields where area action might be beneficial to all and most of the delegates were ready to go along with the water system as it now stood, he said.

Sooke seemed to be the least interested of all the participants, said Mayor Wilson. It was not enthusiastic about several aspects of the plan and thought that it might be benefitted the least of all.

"In any case," said Ald. Edgelow, "we'll be outvoted before we start."

"Oh, come now," said Ald. Toone, "let's not anticipate the worst before we start. We're not going to hand over the reins of municipal government without a struggle. You can be sure of that."

Totem Touch-Up Tall Task

Tall order for Victoria firm of painting contractors is skyscraper totem in Beacon Hill Park. Huge scaffold enables men to climb step by step and re-touch faded paintwork. Job will cost around $900 and totem requires six different colors of paint. Men painting 127-foot pole are Rick Gouldhawke and Al Williams.—(Robin Clarke)

Victoria's Too Late For Six-Digit Alarm

Introduction of a six-digit telephone number to act as an emergency telephone number is impractical, a B.C. Telephone Company spokesman said here Friday.

He was replying to charges made at the fire chief's convention in Quesnel by View Royal volunteer fire department Chief Al Beasley.

Mr. Beasley charged the company had a "completely negative attitude in this regard." He said they were arrogant and do not co-operate with emergency services.

"The complexity of modern switching makes it impractical to introduce the six-digit system in other areas," said the telephone spokesman.

He said the system was in effect in some parts of Vancouver but this was because it was instituted before the dial changeover.

"We are able to service them," he said.

"I don't agree with his statement about no co-operation. We give fullest extent of co-operation to all emergency services," the spokesman said.

Roast the Miles Away

By DON GAIN

Anything can happen when the army teaches a cook to drive.

Take the case of WO1 Bert Quaintance of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, who fed the 1st Battalion, PPCLI, at Work Point Barracks for two years.

Since his transfer to Griesbach Barracks in Edmonton two years ago he's been given his standing orders (driver operator permit).

* * *

And what's he done? He's done some research into cooking on the motor of the family car while travelling.

Kooky as it sounds at first, it seems to make sense after you have read his instructions.

Here they are:

Lightly salt and pepper rib roast about 1½ inch thick. Add generous dash of meat tenderizer. Place roast in 18x24 inch sheet of extra heavy duty foil wrap. Bring edges together and fold twice to make and lock seam. Do same with ends. Wrap twice more in separate sheets of foil. This will be three wraps of foil altogether.

* * *

Make package as small as possible but keep meat in flat position. Make sure ends are sealed to keep in juices.

Place package on car motor just before starting on trip, laying it on manifold of in-line automobile or between cylinders on a V-8 type of engine immediately ahead of air filter.

A meal planned for noon should be placed on the motor about 8:30 a.m. After 1½ hours of driving at 60 miles an hour, stop and turn the meat over. When ready to serve use the foil as a platter.

* * *

If you want potatoes with your meat, select medium-sized tubers and boil them for five minutes before you leave home. Remove from water and wrap each spud in foil before placing on motor. Carrots can be cooked in the same way but should be boiled for 10 minutes first.

Try wieners wrapped in bacon and then in foil. You can heat your hot dog rolls on the motor.

* * *

Try travellers' chicken. Cut a young broiler or fryer in half. Add salt, pepper and meat tenderizer. Wrap and cook in same manner as roast.

Just a little preparation ahead of time will give you a meal cooked and piping hot, when you reach your destination, says WO1 Quaintance.

And he should know. He's been cooking a long time.

Boat Missing Off Alaska

JUNEAU (AP) — An air and sea search has been launched for a 45-foot Ketchikan fishing boat missing since Aug. 13 in southeast Alaska, headquarters of the 17th Coast Guard district said Friday.

The vessel, the Denny N, was last heard from in a routine radio message as she travelled near the Keku islets, west of Petersburg.

Swamper Shouted

Soap-Box Driver Crushed by Truck

A 12-year-old James Bay boy driving his soap box racer down a hill in Oak Bay was killed Friday afternoon when he swerved under the wheels of a truck in the 200-block King George Terrace.

Dead is Chris Daviss, 235 Ontario, who was coasting down the hill from the lookout in the area toward Shoal Bay.

A Goodwill Enterprise truck going in the same direction rounded a curve in the hill behind the boy. Swamper David Reed, 3035 Milgrove, yelled to the boy to get off the road.

Driver Kenneth R. McLean, 1202 Fort, braked and swung over to the left of the yellow line.

CALLED AGAIN

As the truck went alongside the soap box racer, Mr. Reed called again for the young driver to get over to the side.

Suddenly the boy's vehicle swerved toward the truck and under the back wheels.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 1.40 p.m., where he died of multiple injuries at 3 p.m.

SECOND TRAGEDY

This was the second tragic death of a child in Oak Bay this month.

Fifteen - month - old Alan Cross, of Winnipeg, drowned in a crock in his grandparents' garden at 2835 Tod Road on Aug. 12.

However, Friday's accident was Oak Bay's first traffic fatality in three and a half years. The previous one was on Feb. 17, 1961.

In Friday's accident the Daviss boy was in the process of following his cousin Ross Bruce, 13, of 590 St. Patrick, down the hill.

CONSTANTLY TOGETHER

The boys had just completed building their soap boxes last weekend. "They were constantly together," said Ross's mother, Mrs. F. J. Bruce.

An inquest into the death will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Hayward's.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Daviss. Surviving, besides the parents, are two sisters, Madeline, 17, and Avril, 14.

Man Arrested In B.C. North In Cheque Case

A second arrest has been made in an investigation during which $89,723 in certified cheques and postal money orders were found in a woman's apartment.

Police at Hudson Hope in the Peace River area said Friday they were holding Juergen Erich Filgert, 24, on two counts of breaking and entering.

They said Filgert is wanted in connection with investigations revolving around the charging of Mrs. June Rose Hoy in Saanich with breaking and entering and theft.

EXPRESSIONLESS

Mrs. Hoy, the mother of two small children and a former bank employee, appeared in Saanich magistrate's court Friday and was remanded until Wednesday without plea.

She stood expressionless in the dock during the hearing.

Crown prosecutor Kenneth Murphy called for substantial bail pointing out there were letters indicating Mrs. Hoy was about to leave the country. He added she had a passport in her possession.

MOTHER OF TWO

Defence counsel Jack Gatehouse told the court Mrs. Hoy was the mother of two small children and it was unlikely she would leave them. Because a person had a passport, it did not necessarily mean she would be using it, he said.

Police originally planned to take Mrs. Hoy to Vancouver to face further charges but she was left in custody in the city lock-up.

EARLIER APPEARANCE?

She was remanded until Wednesday but police later indicated she might come before the magistrate at an earlier date. Saanich police said the Vancouver charges might be laid in Victoria.

Magistrate William Ostler set bail at $3,000.

Fall on Saw Injures Man

A fall on a revolving seven-foot circular saw at Smith Cedar Mill, 651 Harbour Road, resulted in back, arm and shoulder injuries to Clement Thibault, 25, of Olson Road, early Friday evening.

Mr. Thibault was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where his condition was reported "fair". He was cleaning the floor when he lost his balance and fell on the saw.

Pledge By 27 To Clear Air

Of 45 Victorians who started the five-day quit-smoking course at the Empress Hotel last weekend, 27 have signed forms saying they will not smoke again.

The clinic was conducted by Dr. L. H. Lonergan for the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Another session will be held in a month.

Chest: How Much?

The 1964 Community Chest campaign goal, to be announced at a press conference this morning, will probably top last year's figure of $400,000.

The advanced gift division of the campaign started work Wednesday, executive assistant W. L. Patton said Friday night.

BUSINESS CANVASS

The business canvass will begin Sept. 21 and the residential campaign Oct. 5, he said.

More than 2,800 persons in the Greater Victoria area will be working on the campaign.

STILL ROOM

"This includes everybody from the general committee to the canvassers," Mr. Patton said.

There is still room for canvassers, particularly in the residential section, he said. Anyone wishing to volunteer should phone 385-6708.

Children Stung — House Invaded

Swarm of Bees Creates Havoc

V. J. Clarke, 80 Cadillac, opened his door around 8 p.m. Friday to find out what the trouble was with yelling neighborhood kids—and the trouble flew in—25 little vicious black bees.

The bees had attacked six of the neighborhood children while they were prowling in the backyard of one of the homes in the 100-block Cadillac.

Two were taken to hospital: Derek Rand, 4, of 138 Cadillac with 12 or more stings and Randy Catterall, 76 Cadillac, with 8 or 10. By 10 p.m. they were back at home after appropriate injections at the hospital, including sedation.

"I thought a new Indian game was going on," said Mrs. Catterall who took the lads to the hospital.

"Following the screaming I saw these little tads trying to leap over a high fence. Finally they just rolled over, then back over another fence as they came into my yard," she said.

The bees stung heads, eyes, ears and stomachs.

"When I took a shirt off one of them, bees flew out. One got in our house," said Mrs. Catterall.

"Poor Mr. Clarke with 25 to chase out," she sympathized.

All was reported quiet in the neighborhood, however, at 10:30 p.m. with the children sleeping off the experience.

Current issue of the Bell Telephone News has some good advice for its traffic girls who have graduated in the company's car-wise program. Among the things to be avoided, says instructor Pat Gagnon, are tight skirts which restrict leg movements while driving, spike heels which make foot movements difficult in an emergency. Wearing a tight skirt and pointed heels, Judy Stewart, left, shows how easily she could be tripped by the metal clasp of a safety belt. Maybe Kira Nieman, right, does look very attractive in her outfit with large-brimmed hat but that hat cuts off some of her vision and presents a real problem if the unexpected happens. —(Fednews)

'Natural' Look On Up Grade

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — New York fashion designer Oleg Cassini is enlisting the charms of Swedish women in a battle against the cult of what he calls the "skinny and too mannish" model.

During a recent visit to Europe, he came to Sweden to interview likely candidates for modelling. He was enthusiastic.

"What I want to do is to create a new look called the 'natural look,'" he said. "Scandinavian beauty has always appealed to me, and I have found that there are extraordinarily attractive girls here.

LONG HAIR

"I am sure that I can find some good models without make-up, with long hair which has not been spoiled by too many fashionable hairdressers, and who are athletic looking."

Cassini has been quoted as saying that the present civil rights revolution in the United States, and reaction to it, creates a climate of confusion, and that there is an intimate connection between the atmosphere in a country and its fashions.

According to this theory, no startling fashion developments are to be expected in the United States for the time being. The time is therefore ripe to introduce a "natural look" with all the right curves in the right places.

DOESN'T AGREE

One slender Stockholm model does not agree. Twenty-year-old Aimee Asmundsson, whose vital statistics are 33-20-33, said of the well-rounded mannequin:

"Such a model will never be accepted in Paris. It is not the girl who is on show but the clothes which she is wearing.

"I think a model should be neutral and impersonal."

Parents Build Enthusiasm For French

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (CP) —English - speaking parents here are so anxious that their children learn French that they have formed a group to promote the instruction of the language.

About 200 parents have launched a 10-week summer course in this Montreal suburb that costs each parent $35 for each child, with a special rate if more than one child from a family attends.

The group — known as the St. Lambert Parents for Bilingual Education — has employed three teachers, all of them French - speaking housewives with teaching experience, to take classes in the morning and afternoon. The children are divided into two age groups, four to six years old and seven and eight-year-olds.

Learning with pictures in association with the written and spoken word, even the youngest scholars now are using simple phrases. Some of the pupils have already learned French songs.

The parents manage everything from financing to transportation, which is allocated to different groups on a rotating basis.

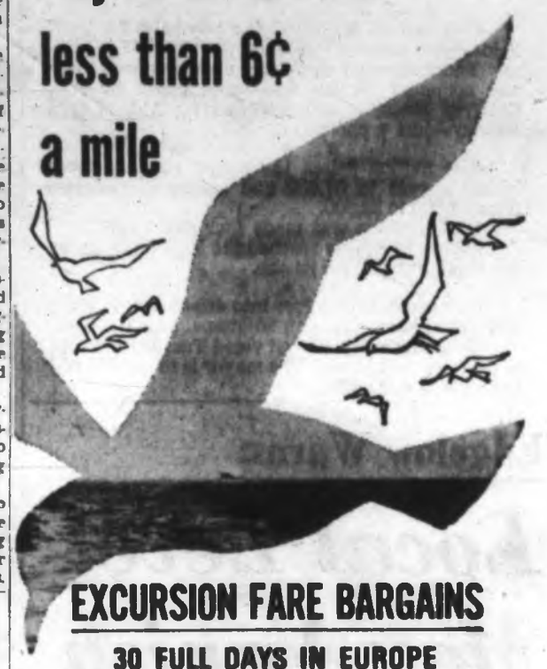

Plans are also under way to continue the classes during the regular academic year, holding classes twice weekly after school hours or on Saturdays.

Bride Married on Birthday

A quiet family wedding took place recently in Nanaimo when Miss Patricia Dianne Garrison became the bride of David Bruce Forsyth. The day was also the date of her 21st birthday anniversary.

The intimate wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter Garrison, 2449 Holyrood Drive. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Forsyth of Prince George.

Rev. Robert Gracey, minister of Brechin United Church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Linda Musgrove, a friend of the bride, played the piano during the service.

The vivacious bride wore a crepe dress in a subtle pink tone. In empire style with scooped neckline and long sleeves, the street-length skirt was in redingote fashion. The dress was made by the bride.

Her headdress was fashioned in two natural full-bloom pink rapture roses and she carried a prayer book covered with a rosebud corsage.

The book was a gift of her godmother Mrs. Robert Fields of Victoria.

For her "something old and something borrowed," the bride wore an heirloom ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. M. Munro of Victoria.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Jane Garrison, as maid of honor. She was in a sleeveless shantung demi-fit dress of a deeper subtle pink color. Her colonial bouquet was of rosebuds en tone and her headpiece was a single natural full bloom pink rapture rose.

Miss Garrison made her dress for the occasion.

For the reception at the bride's parents' home, Stuart Crawford of Ucluelet, gave the bride's toast. The three-tiered wedding cake was made by the bride's mother and the delicate pink rose decorations accentuating the iced cake were created by Mrs. W. Clark of Kirkland, Wash.

For a honeymoon in the province, the bride donned an ensemble of shocking pink shantung, which she had made, and her accessories were in summer white.

The newlyweds will reside at 1345 Arbutus Street, Vancouver, where the bride will return to UBC for her fourth year of arts.

Statistics Catch Up With Young Girls

TORONTO (CP) — Statistics have caught up with unmarried women drivers under 25. As a result, their car insurance rates have gone up since the first of the year.

A Toronto auto-insurance executive says that in recent years companies have had more statistics on which to base their rates for young women drivers. They indicate that if girls drove as many miles as boys in a given period, they would have as many accidents.

Charles Holman, who is chairman of the public action committee of the Canadian Highway Safety Council as well as public relations director for his firm, says people under 25 in Canada do 18 per cent of the driving and have 29 per cent of the accidents.

He says rates for people under 25 who are married go down, perhaps because marriage has a stabilizing influence that affects their driving.

In the Toronto area the basic insurance charge for $35,000 coverage for a single woman under 25 who has had three accident-free, ticket-free years of driving would be $75. For a man with the same qualifications it would be $124.

Anyone over 25, married or single, with the same record would pay $46.

Rates vary in other parts of the country, but the basis is the same.

One of the reasons for the differences in rates for young men and women is that women drive less between 7:30 p.m. and 3 a.m.—the critical accident time.

Mr. Holman says Canadians have more accidents than Americans and speculates it may be because of the number of driving courses given in U.S. schools. "In Canada there are only 234 schools with such courses. Canadian youngsters seem to learn to drive by osmosis. They learn by watching their fathers' mistakes."

Spices Subtle

By JEAN SHARP

TORONTO (CP) — The first use of spices was to hide the taste of tainted meat.

Nowadays they can be used a shade more subtly. In fact, properly used, you shouldn't be able to identify the spice in food, says Jack Curlette, assistant to the general manager of a firm that imports spices.

"Spice is as much to bring out the flavor in other things as it is to impart a taste of its own," he says. "Celery seed, for instance. You've never been in a restaurant and said, 'Gosh that celery seed is good.'"

Mr. Curlette's advice to the novice is to "try a chart and a little bit of curiosity." With practice you can find out which tastes and how strong a taste your family will like.

"Make a little gravy with spice and some without spice to taste the difference."

He notes that many standard cookbooks have spice charts and that his firm, Gorman Eckert and Company, prints suggested uses on package labels.

Mr. Curlette says spices should not be kept any longer than a year because when they dry out they lose their flavor.

He explains that it's oil that gives the taste.

PEPPER IS OIL

"Spice is basically oil. When you buy pepper you are buying oil. That's why we seal packages to keep the flavor."

Canned Fish

When making out your shopping list, remember that 1 pound of cooked or canned fish yields 2 cups of flaked, cooked meat, advise the home economists of the Department of Fisheries of Canada.

Deaf Rate

MONTREAL (CP)—Quebec has one of the highest rates of deafness in children in the world—12.7 in every 10,000, compared with 9.9 across Canada, 8 in the U.S. and 4.6 in France—says Mrs. Mildred Breck, president of the Quebec Speech and Hearing Society.

She attributes it to intermarriage and inbreeding among deaf parents in the isolated districts of the province.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I was one of those teen-agers who thought I had to have the approval of "the crowd" in everything I said and did. I thought it was smart to be just like everyone else. Then I read a poem in the school paper. I don't even know who wrote it, but it changed my life. Maybe if you print it it will change the lives of others:

How absurd to be different from the crowd.
Not too loud. Not too proud.
Not too flashy. Not too brassy.
Keep it cool.
Not too mousey. Not a creep.
Not too long hair. Play it safe, Man.
Take it easy.
Not too smart. Keep it breezy.
Don't take the rap. Why be a sap?
Who wants to lead. And maybe bleed?
Don't stick your neck out, Silly Boy.
Keep still and safe and miss the joy of Knowing who you are.
Douse the flame.
Let everyone be the same.
Without a name.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I went with this extraordinarily beautiful girl for five months. She hypnotized me with her violet blue eyes and millions of black eyelashes.

I read her poems by Rago and Spender. She was a wonderful listener. I bought her albums of Beethoven and Brahms. Her quiet thoughtfulness as she drank in the beauty of the music was exquisite to behold. One day when I attempted to engage her in a serious conversation it became apparent that her silence was born of stupidity and ignorance. The girl is a fraud and she had me completely fooled.

Will you warn others, please, and perhaps save them about $500 in books, records, and flowers.—RENOIR.

Dear Ren: Why is the girl a fraud? Did she tell you she was president of Radcliffe?

Silence, whether born of stupidity or wisdom, sounds the same. The girl did not deceive you. You deceived yourself, so stop beefing.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please answer a simple question. Why do people send out wedding invitations to friends who live thousands of miles away when they know good and well they cannot possibly attend? To me, this is glorified begging. The same goes for birth announcements.

When my baby was born I did not mail out those precious little cards saying "Well, I'm here. I weigh 7 pounds, 11 ounces." I figured some friends would send the baby a gift, which was fine, but I did not want to put anyone on the spot.

Please print this letter and wise people up. Thank you.—ALASKA

Dear Alaska: Believe it or not, but some people LIKE wedding invitations and birth announcements. I am not among them, however, and I have said so, repeatedly.

I figure that the people who are interested KNOW that a hitching or a birth took place because they are in touch by phone or letter. The others couldn't care less, so why bother them?

Goodbye To Boots

NEW YORK (UPI) — Put yourself in the mood for the hood, or other variation of head covering as part of the overall costume for fall.

Prepare also to put knees in shape, do some push-ups for benefit of the renewed emphasis on bosoms, and say goodbye to all those boots that were the fashion rage for fall and winter last year.

The new woman, as New York's fashion industry sees her, will have her head covered by hood, helmet or other gear which comes as part of the "total" costume look. Her knees will be on display as they haven't been since the Second World War years when fabric restrictions by the government caused the manufacturers to keep skirts short.

And bustline? Necklines plunge so daringly that, as one showrom observer on Seventh Avenue, centre of this city's largest single industry put it, "they must be getting us all ready for the Bathing Suit."

Favorite Green Sweater Travels Back and Forth Across Atlantic

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here's a yarn about a sweater—a heather green, wool, pullover sweater purported to be Dylan Thomas' favorite.

The sweater has crossed the Atlantic seven times and almost made it to the stage of the Plymouth Theatre in New York as part of a costume for Alec Guinness.

It is now being shunted back and forth between two Dylan Thomas buffs.

Sweaters, you see, were a favorite piece of wearing apparel for Thomas, the late Welsh poet, whose turbulent life has been turned into the drama, Dylan, by Sidney Michaels, with Sir Alec playing the poet.

★ ★ ★

His favorite was said to be the bulky knit green one that he carried back and forth between the U.S.A. and Wales on each of three trips.

After his death in 1953, his wife Caitlin gave it to her sister, Brigit Marnier who kept it until 1960. In that year, a friend was visiting her.

The friend, Jo McDonald, a writer, had just come from Malibu, Calif., and wasn't prepared for the chilling British weather. Mrs. Marnier pulled out the sweater.

It warmed Miss McDonald that winter. She took it with her when she returned to the United States.

In 1963, she needed cash and placed an ad in a Greenwich village paper. It read: "Dylan Thomas's favorite sweater. Must sell."

There were several inquiries.

It was sold for $100 to Mara Lane and Esther Turnbull, fans of Dylan Thomas since their days at Lake Erie College.

Esther was a budding poet and Mara a starting actress.

The two devised a system which would give each fair access to the sweater. Each girl would have it for three months. They kept to the system until they read that Dylan was to be produced.

They wrote to Sir Alec, told him of their prize, and asked if he wanted to see it.

He saw it; sweater conquered. He asked if he could borrow it. The girls agreed.

Sir Alec showed it to costume designer Ruth Morley who was then in the midst of research into the type of sweaters the Welsh poet wore.

Miss Morley liked the color and decided the one used in the play should be much like it.

When Sir Alec told the girls of Miss Morley's decision, they offered the actual sweater to be used on stage.

But Sir Alec declined, saying it meant too much to Esther and Mara and he would be content to wear a sweater copied after the original.

So Dylan Thomas's favorite sweater did not become a stage costume. Instead, it's back on it's three-month shuttle between two girls who cherish it.

And there's no sign it's about to wear out.

At Fulford

Fete Indoors First Time

FULFORD—Unsettled weather drove the usual garden fete, sponsored by St. Mary's Guild, in to the Fulford Hall on Wednesday, the first time the guild has had to "run to cover" in all the years that this annual affair has been held at Roseneath Farm. It didn't rain but the wind blew cold, so as Archdeacon G. H. Holmes said as he opened the tea — "We are lucky to have such a lovely hall to come to!" The guest speaker was introduced by Miss Doris Anderson, president of the guild. The sum of $247 was taken in during the sale of home cooking, teas, miscellaneous stall, and others.

Guessing the correct weight of a plum cake (5 lbs., 10 ozs.), Mrs. B. D. Gallagher of Morningside Road at Fulford won on the nose. She got the cake.

Another lucky guesser was Mrs. B. Gibson of Wildwood Convalescent Home (in charge of same), who came up with the almost correct number of pennies in a bottle—383. She won the pennies.

Bright flowers decorated the tables and Miss Gladys Shaw was tea convener, assisted by members of the guild. Mrs. A. Stevens was convener for the home baking, assisted by Mrs. L. Mollet and Mrs. J. Lehbauer.

Other conveners were Mrs. A. Davis, sewing; Mrs. D. Slingsby, garden produce; Mrs. A. McManus Sr., flowers; Mrs. F. L. Jackson, vegetables; Mrs. W. Y. Stewart, miscellaneous; Mrs. J. French, Mrs. A. D. Dane, assisted by Gail Slingsby and Gillian French; Jayney French, candy; Mrs. W. Mossop, cake contest; coin guessing, Mrs. Edna Fraser. Mr. Reg Price was at the door and all members of the guild assisted at various stalls and with the tea.

TV TALK

By BRUCE LOWTHER

What with the Democratic convention coming up in the States next week, it may be of some small interest to report that the 150 TV cameras the three networks will use in the convention hall represent a greater number than was in use throughout the entire U.S. only 13 years ago. And that, when Dwight Eisenhower talks on ABC, he cannot be interrupted by commercials; in fact, his contract bars commercials two minutes before and after he appears. Did you hear about the David (Fugitive) Janssen doll? Wind it up and it runs and runs and runs and runs, etc.

"This is Nancy Dickerson in Atlantic City . . ."

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♡	Pass
1N.T.	Pass	2◇	All Pass

Opening lead: Spade king

This deal from the Olympiad match between U.S.A. and Britain is one of 300 reported in the official handbook of the World Bridge Olympiad, obtainable from the American Contract Bridge League, 33 West 60th St., New York, N.Y. 10023, at $2, postpaid in the U.S. and Canada. In both bidding and play, the fate of this hand teetered on a knife edge.

When the U.S. was North-South, the auction was as shown. Although eleven tricks were made, it should not be assumed that the bidding was necessarily faulty. It is unusual to make five-odd with a count of only 22 high-card points: in any case, the contract might have been difficult had either red suit broken badly.

At the other table, the North-South cards were bid to the limit by the Britons, Terence Reese and Boris Schapiro, playing an artificial bidding system. They reached four hearts, played by Schapiro, South, and spades were led. When declarer ruffed the second trick and led to the diamond king, East, Victor Mitchell of New York, made the fine play of ducking. Dummy played a second diamond and Mitchell took the ace and gave his partner a diamond ruff. West, Sam Stayman, returned a spade, and declarer ruffed. He needed all the rest, but couldn't get them, since Mitchell now had one more trump than South. Declarer continued with three rounds of clubs, ruffing with dummy's queen, then he finessed the trump ten. This lost to West's lone jack and declarer was down two.

South could have made the contract by taking a different play earlier, but his plan was entirely reasonable. Hero of the hand was Mitchell, had he won the first diamond, ten tricks would have been made. East's spade return is ruffed, reducing declarer to three trumps, but he ruffs a club in dummy, then cashes the heart queen. He crosses to his diamond jack and plays the trump ace and king. Even though trumps break badly and east is left with the long card, declarer makes his tenth trick when East has to follow to a third diamond.

Grade 13 Going Into Army Huts

VERNON (CP) — Rapidly growing enrolment will force Vernon's Grade 13 classes into army huts next month, the school board says.

"It was either a case of cutting down on the size of the class or moving somewhere where we had more room," said J. W. Green, the board's secretary-treasurer.

He expects between 75 and 100 to take the first-year university courses.

THE FACULTY OF HEARING No. 3

Much comment is made about reading speed. Is there such a thing as listening speed? Certainly. We have reading, talking and listening speeds. Listening speed can be simply defined as that speed at which speech can be heard and understood. Play a 33 r.p.m. record at 78 r.p.m. and you will hear every word and understand not one! Persons with impaired hearing often have a subnormal listening speed—so often they hear, but do not understand because sentences are made up of words, and words are made up of individual sounds, which give audible recognition in the same way that printed letters give visual recognition. The time space between words and sentences is used to make sense of these individual sounds.

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address contains 264 words made up of 1,033 separate sounds requiring about 3½ minutes to deliver. The 1,033 sounds were uttered in about 1¾ minutes, or at the rate of 600 individual sounds per minute—which is 10 sounds per second!

For those with impaired hearing, an assessment of listening speed is essential—you can turn your TV louder, but not slower! A good quality hearing aid without distortion and static is also essential to maintain adequate listening speed, and give comfortable listening.

By the way—do speak slowly to anyone wearing an aid—it helps so much.

Professional attention and high quality aids are available at the HBC Hearing Dept., second,

Wagner Speaks

Kennedy Endorsed

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert Wagner of New York Friday announced his long-anticipated endorsement of Robert Kennedy for the Democratic senatorial nomination from New York, virtually assuring the attorney general's nomination.

Kennedy is expected to oppose the incumbent Republican, Senator Kenneth Keating, who is seeking a second term independently of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

Keating is 64, a veteran of 12 years in Congress, the last six as U.S. senator. Kennedy is 38, and has never run for an elective office.

President Johnson has been pictured as welcoming Kennedy's entrance into New York politics, as a means of strengthening the party locally and also in the hope of picking up one of the two Republican-held Senate seats. However, the White House has publicly kept hands off the pre-convention manoeuvring.

Kennedy is expected to announce his candidacy formally, and then resign as attorney general Sept. 1, when the state Democratic convention meets in New York City. In Washington, Kennedy was at work in the justice department where there was no immediate reaction to Wagner's endorsement.

Mayor Wagner, in his endorsement, mentioned "the dazzling magic" of the Kennedy name, and lauded the attorney general's "vision, imagination, courage and initiative" in regard to civil rights.

'Free' Vote But No Accord

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for an early end to the Commons deadlock over the flag issue faded Friday after the five party leaders reported failure in their attempt to reach a compromise.

But Prime Minister Pearson announced in the Commons that the flag vote will be a "free" one — the government won't stand or fall on the result. And he stressed that the door will be left open for any further compromise.

His statement and those of other leaders made it clear that the discussions hit a snag on Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's refusal to agree to a time limit on debate.

MAKE DECISION

While Mr. Pearson's call for a free vote on the flag indicated a softening of the government's earlier hard line, a highly-placed informant said the prime minister is determined that Parliament make a decision on a flag design, either embodying three maple leaves or one.

This source said also the government is prepared to submit the question to a parliamentary committee so long as there is an assurance the committee will not delay a final decision more than a few weeks. Mr. Diefenbaker had suggested in the house that two months might be spent by a committee on the flag issue.

ACCEPTED LIMITS

"As leader of the government," Mr. Pearson told the Commons, "I felt that whatever procedure was to be followed there should be accepted time limits on discussions to ensure that a decision would be reached at a reasonably early date. The principle of such limitation did not find unanimous acceptance."

Leaders of the smaller opposition grounds said they also favored such a time limit.

FINAL MEETING

Friday's meeting of the party leaders was the third this week and the final of the current series.

Mr. Pearson's announcement, before packed galleries, that the flag vote would be free of party discipline was greeted with applause from his own supporters, the benches of the smaller opposition groups, and by a smattering of Conservatives.

Corps in Cards?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Friday he may make a statement soon on the government's attitude toward a Commonwealth peace corps.

Three Years in Foul, Dark Room

Police Free Boy 'Mole'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police rescued a naked, starving Negro boy Thursday night from a dark, foul-smelling room where he had been imprisoned for three years.

* * *

Screaming and shielding eyes sensitive to light, seven-year-old Darrell Wilson was taken to hospital in an ambulance. He was reported suffering from rickets, a childhood disease brought on by malnutrition.

Robert Weimer, county juvenile officer, went to the apartment house to answer a complaint by neighbors and found the boy locked in the room. The only furnishing was a bedspring and mattress.

There was no electric light fixture in the room. In the daytime, a dim light filtered through dingy windows.

An uncle, identified as Clyde Minnis, 34, was jailed on a charge of contributing to the dependency of a minor.

* * *

Darrell's mother, Iona Wilson, 29, and the man she lives with, Hayward Sanders, were not at home when police were at the apartment.

Later, Mrs. Wilson returned and told a reporter she had kept the boy locked up since 1961 because "it just wasn't safe for that little boy to run loose."

"If he was outside, he would pick up a knife and cut himself or something," she said. "If he was inside, he would pick up something and throw it at us."

* * *

The boy, she said, was fed regularly "the same as the rest of us." Food was passed to him through a hole knocked in the door panel.

Steinkopf

Lack of Support Causes Minister To Quit Cabinet

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba Provincial Secretary Maitland Steinkopf announced Friday night that he had tendered his resignation to Premier Duff Roblin.

Mr. Steinkopf made the announcement in a brief statement as a night session of the legislature opened. Immediately after making the statement he left the chamber and the building and would not comment to reporters.

In the statement, Mr. Steinkopf said a bill introduced during the special legislature session which would clarify his position and validate his election in 1962 had not received the support he had hoped for.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

The legislature earlier Friday voted 37-to-13 in defeating an amendment to the bill which called on the government to defer action until the courts decide on the matter.

Mr. Steinkopf said the vote of the 13 members in support of the amendment showed "they do not share my belief" that any prior defect on his part was only on a technicality.

The government introduced the bill because of a possible infraction of the Legislative Assembly Act in 1962 when Mr. Steinkopf acted as an unpaid agent of the government in arranging the purchase of property. The act forbids any person who executes a contract for the Crown involving the expenditure of public money to hold a seat.

IMPROPER MANNER

During four days of debate on the bill, both Liberal and New Democratic Party members suggested the government acted in an improper manner in presenting the legislation and the matter should be referred to the courts.

Shortly after the special session of the legislature opened Monday, Mr. Steinkopf was served with a writ by one of his constitutents, Lawyer G. R. Stubbs, asking him to show cause why he should sit in the legislature.

UN Unit Flexes Muscles

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A heavily armed UN emergency battle force carried out manoeuvres in the capital Friday. (See Page 3.)

It was the second major show of force against entrenched Greek and Turkish gunposts in Nicosia within the last 48 hours.

The new mobile battle force, consisting of Canadians, Danes and Finns, appeared to be a determined bid by peace force commander Kodendera Thimayya to bring the Nicosia situation "under control."

Bolivia Cuts Cuba Ties

The move left only Mexico and Uruguay among Latin American nations still maintaining relations with the Castro regime. Bolivia took action despite its opposition to such moves at last month's Organization of American States meeting.

'Canada's Crisis' Explained

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP) — U.S. Senator Ernest Greuning said Friday real understanding between French and English Canadians could come about if all Canadians became bilingual and more aware of each other's cultures.

The Alaska Democrat said:

"I can see only enrichment of life's content for all Canadians from the integration of two such rich cultural legacies, complementing, supplementing, diversifying, and stimulating each other."

Four Stranded In Mountains

NAKUSP (CP) — Four men were stranded at the 7,500-foot level of a couple of mountains for a night because of difficulties with their helicopter.

Pilot Douglas Ward of Calgary and Dr. John Moore of the federal department of mines and two mining assistants were returned in two helicopters to St. Leon, 20 miles northwest of here, Friday.

Police said the four were on a survey flight when two of the party were landed on one mountain and two others on another.

Child Beatings

Coroners Alerted

VANCOUVER (CP) — A call for a great effort by doctors, welfare workers and law enforcement agencies to track down cases of deliberate child beatings was issued Friday by Ontario's head coroner.

Dr. H. D. Cotnam told the National Association of Coroners that the number of child beatings by parents has increased alarmingly until it has become a "major social problem."

BEATEN TO DEATH

He said that in Ontario alone in the past year 20 children, most of them babies under the age of three, have been beaten to death by their parents or older brothers or sisters.

"I feel that for each of the 20 proven deaths there are 100 cases of beaten and abused children," he said. "These cases are not all found in large cities by any means but are distributed widely throughout our province."

SUSPECTED CASES

Dr. Cotnam said all local coroners in Ontario had been alerted to watch for any suspected case of child beating.

". . . Our coroners are not only on the alert to find 'battered-child' deaths when they occur but they are anxious to assist all interested people and organizations at the local level to prevent such deaths if possible."

Goldwater:

A-Weapons Should Be Handier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater underscored Friday his proposal for "more ready access" to small tactical nuclear weapons for the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

* * *

The Republican nominee for president later on the Senate floor endorsed the United States social security system and announced he will support a five-per-cent increase in benefits.

Goldwater reiterated his opposition to President Johnson's plan for health care for the elderly under the social security system.

In a fast-paced day on Capitol Hill and at Republican headquarters, Goldwater also:

- Disavowed any desire to make a campaign issue of accounting methods that may have been used in arriving at published estimates of President Johnson's personal fortune and those of the Johnson family.
- Said he is investigating reports of trouble in the Minuteman missile program and called the situation "rather serious."
- Scanned his presidential election prospects in the southern states and said they are best in Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. "Georgia will be tough," he said.
- Accused the Soviet Union of Nazi-style repression of Jews and the Johnson Democratic administration of "deep amnesia" in its dealings with the Russians.

An accounting firm made public Wednesday a report that the net worth of Johnson's family was $3,484,000. Some Republicans have said the Johnson holdings are worth much more because the account listed them at purchase price.

South Has Johnson In a Vise

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Democrats heading into next week's national convention collided Friday with a threat of southern revolt and the formation of a third political party.

Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama put the threat into words.

ANOTHER WALKOUT?

The day's developments signalled the possibility of another party - splintering civil rights ruckus that could lead to a repetition of a Southern Democrat walkout staged in 1948.

Wallace came here not to stay for the convention but only to talk to Democratic platform drafters.

He demanded repeal of the new federal civil rights law—a

Rebels Routed In Congo Drive

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—Congolese government troops Friday drove leftist rebel forces from the important eastern city of Bukavu, leaving 300 persons, including seven Europeans, dead in the streets, radio reports said.

Bukavu, the fifth largest city in the Congo, was devastated during the three days of fighting; electricity, water and telephones were cut off, according to reports to the United Nations here.

SIGNIFICANT

Diplomats here said the army's victory was the most significant in the four-month-old struggle against the rebels, who control one-sixth of the country.

Meanwhile, in Leopoldville Friday more than 1,000 persons were expelled by ferry across the Congo River to Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

Expulsion of all nationals of the Congo (Brazzaville) and Burdundi, and some nationals of Mali, was announced Wednesday.

TAKE MONTH

Trucks carrying those to be expelled from the former Belgian Congo began arriving at the dock here Friday afternoon. An official said it would take at least a month to complete the expulsions.

The rebels were reported earlier in full retreat on the road to Shanbunda, the western approach to Bukavu along which they launched their surprise attack Wednesday.

LEONARD, Ont. (CP)—Passengers spilled through shattered windows and holes gouged in the side of a day coach when the tailended cars of a crack Ottawa-Montreal train were rammed off the CPR main line by a loaded gravel truck Friday in this quiet Eastern Ontario community.

The toll: At least eight persons killed and about a score injured.

CRIES OF DYING

The tiny farm hamlet, about 30 miles southeast of Ottawa, was jarred to life about 8:20 a.m. EDT by the grinding crash, then the cries of the injured and dying.

The five-ton truck knifed into the "Businessman's Special" at the third car from the rear of the passenger train.

DRIVER KILLED

The truck driver, Basil Czopyk, 43, of Ottawa, died as his northbound vehicle disintegrated at a crossing in the hamlet after ramming the eastbound train. The body of the Polish-immigrant was partially buried under his gravel load.

NANAIMO — Three separate accidents in this area Thursday night and Friday morning caused more than $4,400 damage and resulted in three persons being taken to hospital.

A car-truck collision on Nanaimo Lakes Road southwest of Nanaimo caused $1,000. RCMP praised Nanaimo youths Don Campbell and Tommy Sandland who took Judy Douglas, passenger in the car driven by Ryland Huegle to hospital. She was later released.

Kenneth Gillespie, the driver of the truck, was not injured.

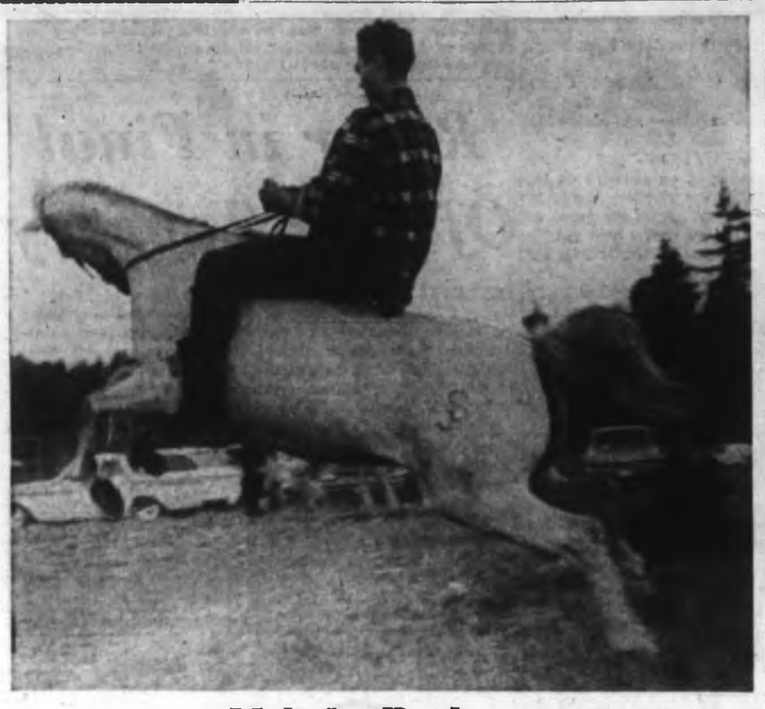

Later Thursday night a truck driven by W. T. Jones of Nanaimo went out of control and crashed into the front porch of a house owned by Mrs. Selma Gill at 681 Haliburton. Police estimated damage at $900.

Police said Kagna's car was forced into the ditch and overturned after being sideswiped by the dump truck.

Packer, Lifeboat Crews Join To Douse Fishboat Blaze

TOFINO—Crews of a fish-packer and lifeboat joined forces with the volunteer fire department to prevent a fire spreading from a fishboat to nearby buildings last week.

The troller Little Partner, owned by Joseph Key, caught fire Saturday morning.

Firemen and boat crews, realizing the danger to the fish plant, oil stores, marine works, several boats and the ice plant, towed the fishboat away from the dock and out into the harbor and doused the flames before the fire could spread beyond the boat's cabin.

The owner and the other occupant of the boat, Rudy Horton, suffered minor burns.

The vessel caught fire just after Mr. Key started the engine.

He played for Roughriders in the late 1920s and early 1930s, taking part in at least one Grey Cup game.

Wrong Zone Chosen By Log Firm

NORTH COWICHAN—Council here at its recent meeting learned that the Pacific Logging Company is preparing its new log booming operation in a commercially zoned area at Crofton.

Reeve Donald Morton explained that type of operation would need an area which is classed as industrial. He remarked it was unfortunate that company officials did not consult the municipality's administration on zoning.

CONSIDERABLE MONEY

Coun. George Whittaker said the company has already spent a considerable amount of money in preparing the Crofton operation. It was noted the same grounds in previous years have been used for booming logs by different companies.

A motel operator in that area some time ago complained to council about the noise created by dredging machines at night. So far the booming operation has not yet started and it is believed the entire issue might come before a zoning appeal board and a public hearing.

Quick Aye Raises Civic Pay

City council put through a pay raise for itself Friday—in about 16 seconds.

There were no dissenting votes nor was there any comment on the motion proposed by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and seconded by Ald. Millard Mooney—just a chorus of ayes.

* * *

The motion raises the mayor's salary from $6,000 a year to $7,500 and aldermen's salaries from $2,000 to $2,500.

Last increase was made four years ago.

Victoria has now reached the legal limit, under the Municipal Act, for its size.

* * *

The boost, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1965, will cost the taxpayers an additional $5,500 a year.

Vancouver city council voted Tuesday in favor of a 33 per cent boost. The mayor is to get $16,000 and aldermen $4,800.

Edgelow Warns:

Local Level May Vanish

By A. H. MURPHY

The public had better keep a sharp eye on such things as mini-metro or it will wake up some morning and find that the day of municipal government is gone.

This, in the opinion of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, could easily come about by exclusion of the public from such meetings as that held by the provincial government on Thursday to launch the municipal affairs department plan.

"How," asked Ald. A. W. Toone, "is the public going to be able to judge the worth of such a scheme when such meetings are held in-camera?"

"We have been instructed to keep councils and others affected informed," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, who was Victoria's delegate at the Thursday meeting.

"We were told that it was the minister's wish that we report fully and without reservation."

Ald. Edgelow wanted to know if the voters in the areas affected by mini-metro were going to be allowed to vote on the final plan or was it to be put into effect by the provincial government without a vote.

"So far as I know," said Mayor R. B. Wilson, "it's a provincial plan and I know of no intention to put the matter to a vote."

Ald. Edgelow didn't care much for the idea of having legislation, to be formulated at such meetings, go to the legislature without a vote of the people.

Wake Up Too Late

"It seems to me," he said, "that we could wake up some morning and find it was all over—that it was too late."

Reporting on the meeting, Mayor Wilson said that the overall purpose was to identify areas where regional action would be fruitful.

Regional planning was desired by everybody, the mayor said, and public health, it was felt, was an area where joint board action would be good.

Victoria felt that the cost of hospitals was not a legitimate municipal responsibility and suggested that any legislation in this respect be "permissive."

Waste and sewage disposal, air pollution and parks were all fields where area action might be beneficial to all and most of the delegates were ready to go along with the water system as it now stood, he said.

Sooke seemed to be the least interested of all the participants, said Mayor Wilson. It was not enthusiastic about several aspects of the plan and thought that it might be benefitted the least of all.

"In any case," said Ald. Edgelow, "we'll be outvoted before we start."

"Oh, come now," said Ald. Toone, "let's not anticipate the worst before we start. We're not going to hand over the reins of municipal government without a struggle. You can be sure of that."

Victoria's Too Late For Six-Digit Alarm

Introduction of a six-digit telephone number to act as an emergency telephone number is impractical, a B.C. Telephone Company spokesman said here Friday.

He was replying to charges made at the fire chief's convention in Quesnel by View Royal volunteer fire department Chief Al Beasley.

Mr. Beasley charged the company had a "completely negative attitude in this regard." He said they were arrogant and do not co-operate with emergency services.

"The complexity of modern switching makes it impractical to introduce the six-digit system in other areas," said the telephone spokesman.

He said the system was in effect in some parts of Vancouver but this was because it was instituted before the dial changeover.

"We are able to service them," he said.

"I don't agree with his statement about no co-operation. We give fullest extent of co-operation to all emergency services," the spokesman said.

Soap-Box Driver Crushed by Truck

A 12-year-old James Bay boy driving his soap box racer down a hill in Oak Bay was killed Friday afternoon when he swerved under the wheels of a truck in the 200-block King George Terrace.

Dead is Chris Daviss, 235 Ontario, who was coasting down the hill from the look-out in the area toward Shoal Bay.

A Goodwill Enterprise truck going in the same direction rounded a curve in the hill behind the boy. Swamper David Reed, 3035 Milgrove, yelled to the boy to get off the road.

Driver Kenneth R. McLean, 1202 Fort, braked and swung over to the left of the yellow line.

CALLED AGAIN

As the truck went alongside the soap box racer, Mr. Reed called again for the young driver to get over to the side.

Suddenly the boy's vehicle swerved toward the truck and under the back wheels.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at 1.40 p.m., where he died of multiple injuries at 3 p.m.

In Friday's accident the Daviss boy was in the process of following his cousin Ross Bruce, 13, of 590 St. Patrick, down the hill.

CONSTANTLY TOGETHER

The boys had just completed building their soap boxes last weekend. "They were constantly together," said Ross's mother, Mrs. F. J. Bruce.

An inquest into the death will be held at 10?a.m. Tuesday at Hayward's.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Daviss. Suriving, besides the parents, are two sisters, Madeline, 17, and Avril, 14.

Take One Car . . . . . Peel Back Hood

Roast the Miles Away

By DON GAIN

Anything can happen when the army teaches a cook to drive.

Take the case of WO1 Bert Quaintance of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, who fed the 1st Battalion, PPCLI, at Work Point Barracks for two years.

Since his transfer to Griesbach Barracks in Edmonton two years ago he's been given his standing orders (driver operator permit).

* * *

And what's he done? He's done some research into cooking on the motor of the family car while travelling.

Kooky as it sounds at first, it seems to make sense after you have read his instructions.

Here they are:

Lightly salt and pepper rib roast about 1½ inch thick. Add generous dash of meat tenderizer. Place roast in 18x24 inch sheet of extra heavy duty foil wrap. Bring edges together and fold twice to make and lock seam. Do same with ends. Wrap twice more in separate sheets of foil. This will be three wraps of foil altogether.

* * *

Make package as small as possible but keep meat in flat position. Make sure ends are sealed to keep in juices.

Place package on car motor just before starting on trip, laying it on manifold of in-line automobile or between cylinders on a V-8 type of engine immediately ahead of air filter.

A meal planned for noon should be placed on the motor about 8:30 a.m. After 1½ hours of driving at 60 miles an hour, stop and turn the meat over. When ready to serve use the foil as a platter.

* * *

If you want potatoes with your meat, select medium-sized tubers and boil them for five minutes before you leave home. Remove from water and wrap each spud in foil before placing on motor. Carrots can be cooked in the same way but should be boiled for 10 minutes first.

Try wieners wrapped in bacon and then in foil. You can heat your hot dog rolls on the motor.

* * *

Try travellers' chicken. Cut a young broiler or fryer in half. Add, salt, pepper and meat tenderizer. Wrap and cook in same manner as roast.

Just a little preparation ahead of time will give you a meal, cooked and piping hot, when you reach your destination, says WO1 Quaintance.

And he should know. He's been cooking a long time.

Three Years in Foul, Dark Room

Police Free Boy 'Mole'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police rescued a naked, starving Negro boy Thursday night from a dark, foul-smelling room where he had been imprisoned for three years.

* * *

Screaming and shielding eyes sensitive to light, seven-year-old Darrell Wilson was taken to hospital in an ambulance. He was reported suffering from rickets, a childhood disease brought on by malnutrition.

Robert Weimer, county juvenile officer, went to the apartment house to answer a complaint by neighbors and found the boy locked in the room. The only furnishing was a bedspring and mattress.

There was no electric light fixture in the room. In the daytime, a dim light filtered through dingy windows.

An uncle, identified as Clyde Minnis, 34, was jailed on a charge of contributing to the dependency of a minor.

* * *

Darrell's mother, Iona Wilson, 29, and the man she lives with, Hayward Sanders, were not at home when police were at the apartment.

Later, Mrs. Wilson returned and told a reporter she had kept the boy locked up since 1961 because "it just wasn't safe for that little boy to run loose."

"If he was outside, he would pick up a knife and cut himself or something," she said. "If he was inside, he would pick up something and throw it at us."

* * *

The boy, she said, was fed regularly "the same as the rest of us." Food was passed to him through a hole knocked in the door panel.

REBELS ROUTED IN CONGO DRIVE

Bukavu, the fifth largest city in the Congo, was devastated during the three days of fighting; electricity, water and telephones were cut off, according to reports to the United Nations here.

Diplomats here said the army's victory was the most significant in the four-month-old struggle against the rebels, who control one-sixth of the country.

Meanwhile, in Leopoldville Friday more than 1,000 persons were expelled by ferry across the Congo River to Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

Expulsion of all nationals of the Congo (Brazzaville) and Burundi, and some nationals of Mali, was announced Wednesday.

TAKE MONTH

Trucks carrying those to be expelled from the former Belgian Congo began arriving at the dock here Friday afternoon. An official said it would take at least a month to complete the expulsions.

The rebels were reported earlier in full retreat on the road to Shasbunda, the western approach to Bukavu along which they launched their surprise attack Wednesday.

Lack of Support Causes Minister To Quit Cabinet

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba Provincial Secretary Maitland Steinkopf announced Friday night that he had tendered his resignation to Premier Duff Roblin.

Mr. Steinkopf made the announcement in a brief statement as a night session of the legislature opened. Immediately after making the statement he left the chamber and the building and would not comment to reporters.

In the statement, Mr. Steinkopf said a bill introduced during the special legislature session which would clarify his position and validate his election in 1962 had not received the support he had hoped for.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

The legislature earlier Friday voted 37-to-13 in defeating an amendment to the bill which called on the government to defer action until the courts decide on the matter.

Mr. Steinkopf said the vote of the 13 members in support of the amendment showed "they do not share my belief" that any prior defect on his part was only on a technicality.

The government introduced the bill because of a possible infraction of the Legislative Assembly Act in 1962 when Mr. Steinkopf acted as an unpaid agent of the government in arranging the purchase of property. The act forbids any person who executes a contract for the Crown involving the expenditure of public money to hold a seat.

IMPROPER MANNER

During four days of debate on the bill, both Liberal and New Democratic Party members suggested the government acted in an improper manner in presenting the legislation and the matter should be referred to the courts.

Shortly after the special session of the legislature opened Monday, Mr. Steinkopf was served with a writ by one of his constitutents, Lawyer G. R. Stubbs, asking him to show cause why he should sit in the legislature.

'Canada's Crisis' Explained

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP) — U.S. Senator Ernest Greuning said Friday real understanding between French and English Canadians could come about if all Canadians became bilingual and more aware of each other's cultures.

The Alaska Democrat said: "I can see only enrichment of life's content for all Canadians from the integration of two such rich cultural legacies, complementing, supplementing, diversifying, and stimulating each other."

Senator Greuning, speaking to 70 prominent Canadian and American industrialists at the

Bolivia Cuts Cuba Ties

LA PAZ (UPI)—Bolivia announced Friday that it was severing diplomatic relations with Cuba. The move left only Mexico and Uruguay among Latin American nations still maintaining relations with the Castro regime. Bolivia took action despite its opposition to such moves at last month's Organization of American States meeting.

Child Beatings

Coroners Alerted

VANCOUVER (CP) — A call for a great effort by doctors, welfare workers and law enforcement agencies to track down cases of deliberate child beatings was issued Friday by Ontario's head coroner.

Dr. H. D. Cotnam told the National Association of Coroners that the number of child beatings by parents has increased alarmingly until it has become a "major social problem."

BEATEN TO DEATH

He said that in Ontario alone in the past year 20 children, most of them babies under the age of three, have been beaten to death by their parents or older brothers or sisters.

"I feel that for each of the 20 proven deaths there are 100 cases of beaten and abused children," he said. "These cases are not all found in large cities by any means but are distributed widely throughout our province."

SUSPECTED CASES

Dr. Cotnam said all local coroners in Ontario had been alerted to watch for any suspected case of child beating.

"... Our coroners are not only on the alert to find 'battered-child' deaths when they occur but they are anxious to assist all interested people and organizations at the local level to prevent such deaths if possible."

UN Unit Flexes Muscles

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A heavily armed UN emergency battle force carried out manoeuvres in the capital Friday. (See Page 3.)

It was the second major show of force against entrenched Greek and Turkish gunposts in Nicosia within the last 48 hours.

The new mobile battle force, consisting of Canadians, Danes and Finns, appeared to be a determined bid by peace force commander Kodendera Thimayya to bring the Nicosia situation "under control."

Fans Trap Beatles In Dressing Room

SEATTLE (AP) — A screaming crowd of teen-agers trapped the Beatles in their dressing room at the Seattle Coliseum Friday night.

The Beatles had appeared for 29 minutes, during which time the stage was peppered with jelly beans, peanuts and even a fountain pen.

When the Beatles left the stage a group of 15 to 20 teen-agers charged toward them, but police managed to throw up a cordon long enough to get the group to its dressing room.

The quartet was trapped for 50 minutes. Then, police backed an ambulance into a dark recess near the exit and spirited the group to safety.

Goldwater Asks Handier A-Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater underscored Friday his proposal for "more ready access" to small tactical nuclear weapons for the supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Republican nominee for president later on the Senate floor endorsed the United States social security system and announced he will support a five-per-cent increase in benefits.

Goldwater reiterated his opposition to President Johnson's plan for health care for the elderly under the social security system.

In a fast-paced day on Capitol Hill and at Republican headquarters, Goldwater also:

- Disavowed any desire to make a campaign issue of accounting methods that may have been used in arriving at published estimates of President Johnson's personal fortune and those of the Johnson family.
- Said he is investigating reports of trouble in the Minuteman missile program and called the situation "rather serious."
- Scanned his presidential election prospects in the southern states and said they are best in Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. "Georgia will be tough," he said.
- Accused the Soviet Union of Nazi-style repression of Jews and the Johnson Democratic administration of "deep amnesia" in its dealings with the Russians.

An accounting firm made public Wednesday a report that the net worth of Johnson's family was $3,484,300. Some Republicans have said the Johnson holdings are worth much more because the account listed them at purchase price.

South Has Johnson In a Vise

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Democrats heading into next week's national convention collided Friday with a threat of southern revolt and the formation of a third political party.

Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama put the threat into words. (See picture Page 14.)

ANOTHER WALKOUT?

The day's developments signalled the possibility of another party - splintering civil rights ruckus that could lead to a repetition of a Southern Democrat walkout staged in 1948.

Wallace came here not to stay for the convention but only to talk to Democratic platform drafters.

He demanded repeal of the new federal civil rights law—a

'Free' Vote But No Accord

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for an early end to the Commons deadlock over the flag issue faded Friday after the five party leaders reported failure in their attempt to reach a compromise.

But Prime Minister Pearson announced in the Commons that the flag vote will be a "free" one — the government won't stand or fall on the result. And he stressed that the door will be left open for any further compromise.

His statement and those of other leaders made it clear that the discussions hit a snag on Opposition Leader Diefenbaker's refusal to agree to a time limit on debate.

MAKE DECISION

While Mr. Pearson's call for a free vote on the flag indicated a softening of the government's earlier hard line, a highly-placed informant said the prime minister is determined that Parliament make a decision on a flag design, either embodying three maple leaves or one.

This source said also the government is prepared to submit the question to a parliamentary committee so long as there is an assurance the committee will not delay a final decision more than a few weeks. Mr. Diefenbaker had suggested in the house that two months might be spent by a committee on the flag issue.

Corps in Cards?

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Friday he may make a statement soon on the government's attitude toward a Commonwealth peace corps.

Sleepy Hamlet Jolted Awake

Morning Nightmare on the 'Special'

LEONARD, Ont. (CP)—Passengers spilled through shattered windows and holes gouged in the side of a day coach when the tailended cars of a crack Ottawa-Montreal train were rammed off the CPR main line by a loaded gravel truck Friday in this quiet Eastern Ontario community.

The toll: At least eight persons killed and about a score injured.

DRIVER KILLED

The truck driver, Basil Czopyk, 43, of Ottawa, died as his northbound vehicle disintegrated at a crossing in the hamlet after ramming the eastbound train. The body of the Polish immigrant was partially buried under his gravel load.
